Surveyor Test Clears Way For Moon Landing

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — The Surveyor vehicle for unmanned, soft moon landings has made its first descent without the aid of parachutes, clearing the way for its first lunar mission May 30.

The spacecraft landed successfully Wednesday at Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo after a 36-second descent which began with Surveyor's release from a balloon at an altitude of almost 1,000 feet.

Tests had been under way at Holloman for more than a year, but previously parachutes had been used to assist Surveyor in part of the descent.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) will not commit men to moon journeys until more is learned about the lunar surface. Surveyor would send back this data.

History's first soft landing on the moon was made Feb. 3 by Russia's Luna 9. NASA officials have conceded that Luna 9 gave Russia a lead in the unmanned phase of the moon race but not necessarily the overall edge.

Because of the complexity of the mission, seven identical Surveyors are being built in hopes that at least one will succeed before the end of 1967.

The Surveyor program had an original 1963 target date for a lunar landing but ran into troubles. The program was called by a congressional committee "one of the least orderly and most poorly executed of NASA projects."

The Holloman test director for Surveyor, G. P. Steffen of Hughes Aircraft Co., said that Wednesday was the first time a complete descent under Surveyor's own power had been attempted.

"This is very significant and we're all delighted," he said. "We have this day tripled our confidence."

Astronaut's Parents Will Watch On TV

BELLWOOD, Ill. (AP) — The parents of astronaut Eugene A. Cernan will watch their son blast off into space Tuesday on color television in this suburb of Chicago.

"We wouldn't get to see as much at the cape and we are told you can see it better on television," Mrs. Andrew Cernan told newsmen Wednesday.

The Cernans plan to watch the activities from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at their home along with their daughter, Mrs. Debra Riley, and several friends.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Cernan and his command pilot, Thomas P. Stafford, are scheduled to be lifted into space at 11:39 a.m. (CDT) Tuesday, after the 10 a.m. launching of their target ship.

Kurdish sources in contact with northern Iraq claimed that two Iraqi divisions, supported by armor, artillery and Soviet-supplied Iraqi air force planes, launched an assault against the Kurds about 10 days ago in the mountainous Ruwanduz region near the border of Iran.

The Kurdish rebel radio station claimed the attacks had been repulsed and there were hundreds of dead and wounded.

An all-out assault by Iraq's five army divisions had been reported planned for April 15 but was reportedly suspended by the death of President Abdel Salam Aref on April 13 in a helicopter crash.

Kurdish sources speculated that the government went ahead with the military campaign in hopes of winning a position of strength from which to negotiate.

200 Picket Public Aid In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 500 employees of the Cook County Public Aid department have voted to strike at the 24 public aid offices in a dispute over union recognition.

The strike decision came Wednesday night, hours after Director Raymond M. Hilliard had suspended 360 employees for walking off their jobs for one hour.

Allen Kaplan, president of the Independent Union of Public Aid Employees (IUPAE), said the strike would begin Thursday and would continue until Hilliard agrees to hold an election to determine a sole bargaining agent for the public aid workers.

Hilliard said the 360 were suspended for 15 days and faced possible loss of their jobs. He said he had ordered employees not to participate in the walk-out.

"The reason for the suspensions is to show them that when an order is given, it will have to be obeyed," Hilliard said. Kaplan said more than 1,000 workers called in sick Wednesday morning in support of the IUPAE walkout. He said 70 to 80 per cent of the remaining workers were absent during the afternoon.

The department employs 4,600 persons.

Lodge Return Urged

Feels Ky Directed Vote May Be Rejected

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Abraham Ribicoff said today if the military government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky supervises elections in South Viet Nam, the outcome will be contested—and perhaps rejected.

And Sen. Albert Gore said he hopes U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will return to Saigon with explicit instructions from the White House to support free elections in the warring Southeast Asian nation.

The two Democrats, Ribicoff of Connecticut and Gore of Tennessee, talked of the projected elections as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee summoned Lodge to a closed-door session on the Viet Nam situation.

Ribicoff urged Senate approval of his resolution asking President Johnson to seek election supervision by U.N. observers.

"If the Ky government supervises elections," Ribicoff's statement said, "the results will be contested—and may well be rejected—by the other elements of the Viet Nam power struggle."

"Poll-watchers supported by the United States alone would also be unsatisfactory," the senator added.

Lodge, back from the war zone for consultations, conferred Tuesday night with President Johnson and the National Security Council. Secrecy has shrouded the substance of Lodge's discussions.

Another item before the committee today: A proposal to give it a share in supervision of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., is pressing that bid, seeking seats for three foreign relations committees on the Senate panel which oversees the secret intelligence agency.

It is now composed of senators from the armed services and appropriations committee. Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the CIA panel, opposes the McCarthy plan.

Gore and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, have expressed concern at newspaper accounts from Saigon which they said indicated Lodge is not enthusiastic at the prospect of Vietnamese elections.

"We'll find out," Gore said in an interview.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has declared the administration supports elections in the south, and pledged that American forces there will not interfere with balloting—by Communists if they choose to vote.

Secretary of State Rusk, facing hot and sometimes hostile committee questioning Monday, insisted that the United States supports elections.

He was head of Columbia University's department of religion from 1949 to 1952 and later was dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. Pike was elected bishop of the California diocese in 1958. It comprises 10 counties in western California.

Pike has been accused of heresy because of his questioning of such doctrines as the virgin birth and the Trinity. During a San Jose appearance Wednesday, he said he did not believe in the second coming of Christ—"I do not believe it at all."

PONY TO STAR
ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A Shetland pony will have a starring role in the opera "Sister Angelica" at Rockford College Saturday.

The opera calls for a donkey, Richard Goffon, assistant professor of music, said Wednesday, but "we couldn't find a donkey."

Tom Whittenberger, a sophomore from Weston, Mass., who is caring for the animal, said it will be given tranquilizers before the performance in the dining room of the college's new hall.

He said the church is torn by conflict between the "in group club" feeling and the concept of Christianity as a cause. He said this has led to the church's decline and he wants to explore the conflict's roots "with the aim of presenting the faith in a way which is more relevant to contemporary man."

Pike, born in Oklahoma City, grew up in Hollywood. For him, the road to the priesthood included being a naval officer, a Roman Catholic student, an agnostic and an attorney. He was ordained an Episcopal priest in 1946.

He was head of Columbia University's department of religion from 1949 to 1952 and later was dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. Pike was elected bishop of the California diocese in 1958. It comprises 10 counties in western California.

MAGICIAN ORDERED TO BANISH HIS VANISHING DOVES
EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The City of Evanston has ordered a student magician to banish his vanishing doves.

The 11 doves, which normally disappear only during the magic act of their owner, Tom Dahl, roost in the basement of the Theta Chi fraternity house on the Northwestern University campus.

But in December a roaming inspector for the Evanston Health Department spotted the birds and ordered Dahl, 20, a junior in the university's Medill School of Journalism, to find his doves a new perch.

Dovecotes are banned by city ordinance, said the inspector. "I'm a magician when I'm not going to school," Dahl, a Minneapolis native said, "and these doves are my livelihood. They finance half my education."

"They told me to get the doves out in two weeks," Dahl said, "but they also said I could appeal the ruling for $25, so I did."

Antiaircraft Missiles

Decide Nike Does Not Have Russ SAM Weakness

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has taken a hard look at its Nike Hercules air defense missiles in the light of the poor performance of Russian-built SAM antiaircraft missiles in North Viet Nam.

Its conclusion: The U.S. missiles do not have the same weaknesses and no major adjustments are needed in Nike Hercules defenses.

Sources said today Army air defense commanders were asked to re-examine their doctrine and capabilities months ago after the Russian-built SAMs appeared in North Viet Nam.

Details of the study are secret, but it was understood that the Nike Hercules radar—a vital to the killing ability of the missile—was rated superior to the Soviet SAM radar equipment and less subject to evasion.

The re-examination took account of special tactics developed by U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fliers in dealing with the SAMs in their forays into North Viet Nam.

"We think our batteries would score much higher kills than the North Vietnamese," said one source.

The SAMs, believed to be manned by North Vietnamese crews, have knocked down fewer than 20 of the 235 U.S. warplanes lost above the 17th parallel.

Some U.S. military men believe the SAMs would do better if they were handled by Russian firing crews. Russians have been serving as advisers and trainers, according to information available here.

Among other things, the U.S. Army missile men were told to see what could be learned from the mobility of the Communist weapons.

No U.S. Army air defense commander came on with any suggestion for major change, although there was some feeling that Nike Hercules units might practice moving about more than they do.

Though classified as semimobile, most Nike Hercules batteries are emplaced in rather fixed positions around cities and bases in the United States and abroad.

WORKERS OK PACT
CHICAGO (AP) — Inside workers at three of Chicago's largest dairies have agreed to a one-year contract, ending a three-hour strike.

Some 700 workers, members of Local 754, Dairy Employees Union, were off the job Wednesday for about three hours at the Borden Co., Bowman Dairy Co. and Reuter-Worth Dairy Co.

The contract, affecting 2,000 dairy workers, provides a $4-a-week across-the-board wage increase, an additional $4 in fringe benefits and an extra week of vacation for each employee.

Union members will be asked to ratify the contract at a meeting Sunday.

The contract provided for $12.50 weekly wages.

The contract with Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., representing 26 dairies which deliver 95 per cent of the area's dairy products, expired April 30.

"We'll find out," Gore said in an interview.

A letter from Mesa, Ariz., reads: "I guess I must be a triple-dyed chump at the card table. Maybe I'm stand prosper. I sat East and doubled North at six hearts. I was pretty sure that I had two trump tricks and that the enemy had no place to go except down. When South ran out to six no-trump I became very angry at myself but there was nothing I could do about it except suffer. "When dummy showed up with the ace of diamonds I wished I had doubled six no-trump also but South proceeded to wrap his contract right around my neck. "He discarded the ace of diamonds on a club at trick two and then led the queen of diamonds. I took my king and led the suit back, whereupon he proceeded to cash his last club and all his diamonds and to discard down to the blank ace-king of hearts and the king-ten-nine of spades in dummy. I had to go down to five cards also and had to unguard one of the major suits. I blanked my heart honors, whereupon South cashed dummy's ace and king and eventually made his twelfth trick with a small heart in his hand. I know he played the hand beautifully. Does his play have a name?"

The play is known as a criss-cross squeeze and was very good. We sympathize with our correspondent but even more with his partner because it turns out that if East had led his queen or jack of spades when he got in with the king of diamonds he would have broken up the squeeze. Also, believe it or not, there would have been no defense at all against a six-heart contract. Why don't you readers enjoy yourselves trying to see how North could make six hearts against any defense? If you can't work it out, we will show you tomorrow.

ALUMNI FUN IN BEARDSTOWN

BEARDSTOWN—The annual banquet and dance for members of the Beardstown high school Alumni Association will be held May 28 at the B.H.S. gym.

Bill Baer, president, has announced that reunions will be held by the class of 1911 with Lee Northcutt as committee chairman; 1916 with Dr. Russell Black as chairman; 1921 with Mrs. Nellie Persinger Maltby of Rushville as chairman.

1926 with Mrs. Ruth Bell Elmore and Mrs. Estelle Elam as chairman; and 1931 with Mrs. Dorothy Nieman Harre as chairman; 1936 with Miss Elda Heintze as chairman; 1941 with Mrs. Margaret Harn Murray as chairman.

1946 with Mrs. Gertrude Fast Twedde as chairman; 1951 with Mrs. Bette Clarke Barron and Mrs. Mary Moeller Miller as chairmen; 1956 with Dick Yost as chairman and 1961 with Mrs. Connie Riley Perry as chairman.

Marylyce Hobrock is Alumni secretary and N. B. Murray and Bill Bley are co-chairmen of the Finance committee.

ALEXANDER WSCS HAS LUNCHEON

The Alexander WSCS met Thursday, May 5, at the home of Mrs. Bess Kumle with Mrs. Evelyn Keenan as co-hostess. A luncheon was served preceding the business session.

The president, Mrs. Kumle, opened the meeting with a prayer offered by Mrs. G. W. Haley, followed by the minutes of the April meeting and the monthly financial report.

Announcement was made of the school of Christian Missions, to be held at Millikin University in Decatur from June 27 to July 1. Mrs. Josephine Muckelston presented the program.

Seventeen members and the following guests were present, Miss Gola Withers, Mrs. Louise Beerup, Mrs. Geraldine Toler, Mrs. Patricia Lindemann and Kallie Jo, Mrs. Mary White and Terry, and Arlinda Beth Becker.

The meeting closed with prayer. Mrs. Sallie Stapleton and Mrs. Gertha Colwell are June hostesses, a silent auction will be held.

BEARDSTOWN STUDY TO AID SCHOOLS

BEARDSTOWN—The Citizens Advisory committee on education has announced that a house to house survey will be started here May 12 to secure information on school enrollment and other school data.

PTA members and other citizen volunteers will assist in the canvass, which is the first project of the newly formed citizens group.

Mrs. Jeanette Kirchner is chairman of the committee sponsoring the survey. About 20 workers will make the canvass.

Associate Circuit Judge Fred W. Reither has announced he will seek retention in office in the November election.

The Cass county jurist will be the only candidate named on a special ballot for this judicial election.

Eight jury trials are scheduled in Cass county circuit court during the week of May 16-23.

D. C. Allen will be tried May 16 on charges of deceptive practices and Woodrow Sticker is defendant in a dram shop case on the same day. Also scheduled for this day is the case of the People vs. Richard Maltby charged with assault.

Other cases include charges of deceptive practice against Gary Smith set for trial May 17, and the Warner vs. Warner divorce case.

MINIATURES

Certain paintings are called miniatures because, originally, they were painted with minium, which is native cinnabar or red lead. The paint, not the size, was responsible for the name.

FIXING THE FALLS—An Army Engineers survey crew drills into rock at Luna Island at the southern flank of American Falls as a first step toward eventual rehabilitation of crumbling Niagara Falls. The survey is part of a federal study to determine what measures should be taken to reduce erosion which has deposited huge piles of rock at the base of the American Falls.

ROODHOUSE CLUB SEES MOVIE ON TRAVEL IN ALASKA

ROODHOUSE — Charles E. Martin furnished his own program at the Rotary Club meeting, Wednesday night. Mr. Martin showed a film entitled, "Welcome to Alaska," through the courtesy of his son-in-law, Charles W. Brooks, who took the pictures. Commentary was made by both Mr. and Mrs. Martin. The projector was operated by Merle Mackey, another Rotarian.

Guests included Rotarians Joe Dixon and John Marshall, Jacksonville. The dinner was served by the Khoury League Mothers. Dr. and Mrs. F. Earl Walker were among the more than 150 officials who attended the 1966 Illinois State Medical Society Leadership Conference April 27 through 28 in Springfield. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Landreth, who observed their 25th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, May 3, were honored Sunday at their home with a dinner. Those present were their daughter and husband, S/Sgt. and Mrs. Ralph E. Thien, and son, Michael, Belton, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. James Dunham and son, Jimmy and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Mullens, Decatur.

Mr. and Mrs. Landreth received many gifts and a bouquet of flowers from their children. Their daughter and family remained with them until Thursday.

OUTBUILDINGS BURN IN JERSEY FIRE

JERSEYVILLE — Fire of undetermined origin swept through a series of outbuildings at the farm of Walter Beiermann three miles northeast of Jerseyville Monday morning.

Totally destroyed was a large barn, granary and a milk house. The prevailing wind from the north prevented the fire from spreading to a couple of other large barns not far from the buildings destroyed by the fire.

A quantity of hay, straw and grain was lost in the barn and granary blaze. "We had never fed any of the hay stored in the barn that was lost," Beiermann stated Monday afternoon. "There were about four thousand bales of alfalfa hay, twelve hundred bales of straw and five hundred bushels of corn and oats."

The Jerseyville Fire Department sent a unit to the Beiermann farm where assistance was given in preventing the spread of the fire to the farm house.

Beiermann stated that there was some insurance on the buildings burned, but not nearly enough to replace them.

BLUFFS WOMAN FETED AT DINNER

BLUFFS — Mrs. Katie Engelbrecht was guest of honor at a carry-in dinner at the Russell Fargo home Sunday. The occasion was her 85th birthday as well as Mothers Day.

Those celebrating the day were the guest of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dickens; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dickens, Danny and Violet; Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Wardle, Donnie, Denise and Diane; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fargo, Betty and Ruth; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Devlin and Kenny; Mr. and Mrs. Burl Fargo and Karmey Schone.

Mrs. Engelbrecht received a number of lovely gifts and cards. A granddaughter and her family, Rev. and Mrs. Van McCullough and daughters called to talk to the family at noon from Port Orchard, Washington.

Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Lein and family left Saturday for Milwaukee, Wisconsin, having been called by the sudden death of his father. Rev. Kenneth Knudsen of Quincy conducted the services in St. John's Lutheran Church in Bluffs.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie Television Writer
LONDON (AP) — "I thought to myself? This is it—the Big C," said Marlon Brando.

Fortunately, the recent illness that kept him from the shooting of "The Countess of Hong Kong" was diagnosed as not cancer but a twisted intestine. He now has been restored to the comedy film and concluded it this week.

Brando discussed his health as well as his work with Charlie Chaplin and Sophia Loren during a conversation at his Chester Square flat.

The actor came into the second-floor drawing room of the flat wearing a karate suit. It was at the end of a long day of working in the movie, and as a reward he was given a large plate of spinach.

"My diet," he explained, "I've taken off 15 pounds since I was sick. Pretty soon I'll be down to 165, and then I'll have five pounds to play with."

Brando was hospitalized last month with what was feared to be appendicitis.

Brando expressed gratitude at the impending conclusion of filming the movie. Of his director Chaplin he commented: "He's a nice old gent. We do things his way, that's all. He shows us how: He doesn't know how a scene works until he does it himself."

"So I've just been following directions, I've done that before with (Ella) Kazan and—"

Brando, who is noted for directing himself, couldn't think of any others. For Kazan he made "Viva Zapata!", "A Streetcar Named Desire", and "On the Waterfront", the latter netting his Academy Award.

About costar Sophia Loren: "She's all right. She takes care of the publicity."

Except for his visits to Pinewood Studio and the hospital, Brando has scarcely stirred from his flat. He entertains foreign diplomats, English intellectuals and the dark-eyed beauty he seems to favor but has seen neither theater nor sights.

"I get the fidgets in theaters," he explained. "When you're in the profession, you want to get away from it after hours."

VFW AUXILIARY AT WHITE HALL INSTALLS SLATE

WHITE HALL — V.F.W. Auxiliary to Post No. 7694 installed officers for the ensuing year on Monday night.

Mrs. Ivamae Dickerson served as installing officer. New officers are: Marjorie McGlas-son, president; Phyllis Dawdy, senior vice president; Margaret Ridings, junior vice president; Frances Davis, treasurer; Wanda Edwards, conductor; trustees, Marge Tribble, June Cragmille and Dona Fisher; chaplain, Ivamae Dickerson, junior past president, Frances Davis; secretary, Joyce Fisher, flag bearer, Niada Neff; banner bearer, Dona Fisher; patriotic instructor, June Cragmille; historian, Wanda Edwards; Audrey Fisher, guard; four color bearers will be announced later.

White Hall Notes

Mrs. Elmore Dean returned Thursday from an extended visit with her daughter and family in Mason, Arizona.

Miss Dorothy M. Young spent Wednesday and Thursday in East St. Louis, with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murphy and family.

Mr. Murphy has taken a governmental position in legal work with widows, orphans and veterans in the Springfield area and the family will move to Springfield as soon as school is out in East St. Louis.

Mrs. Ada Brannan and her daughter, Mrs. Carl Lorton, spent the weekend with relatives in St. Louis and attended the Lawrence Welk Show at Kiel Auditorium on Saturday night.

Mrs. E. K. Spangenberg and family of Deer Park, Long Island, New York are here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Jouett.

Mrs. Frank N. McCollister has returned to her home after spending a week in Springfield, where she assisted in the care of her aunt, Mrs. Gloria Lamb, a surgical patient at St. John's hospital.

Mark Steckel of White Hall has been a surgical patient at St. John's hospital, Springfield.

NATURAL BRIDGE

Largest natural bridge in the world is Rainbow Bridge, which spans 278 feet and arches 309 feet above a rock-strewn desert in southern Utah.

Probably In Your Pocket

This Civil War Result Enduring, Widespread

By JERRY BUCK
NEW YORK (AP) — In your pocket or purse you probably are carrying one of the most enduring and widespread results of the Civil War — the five-cent piece.
The nickel, celebrating its 100th birthday this month, was born as a result of the war's economic chaos. Silver coins had all but vanished from sight as people hoarded them or shipped them abroad.

It also came about because a Pennsylvania miner, Joseph Wharton, needed a new market for his nickel — and he had two powerful friends in Congress, Thaddeus Stevens and William D. Kelley.
And though the nickel has come out of the mints by the billions the U.S. government has never officially recognized its name as the "nickel." To the Treasury it is simply the "five-cent piece."

The Chase Manhattan Bank money museum at 1254 Avenue of the Americas marks the nickel's centennial with a special exhibit that opened May 9. The museum curator, Don Taxay, said it is the most important numismatic event the museum has ever put on.

What has the nickel wrought in those 100 years?
It has saved many a lad from having to walk around with an empty pocket. It has kept generations of youngsters supplied with ice cream cones, candy bars, and geegaws.

The nickel doesn't go as far these days. A pint-sized version of the nickel candy bar is still around, and Louisiana is one of the few places where you can still make a nickel telephone call.

The first nickel, issued in 1866, had a shield on it. But the next nickel to come along, the liberty head in 1883, proved to be a far more valuable coin.

The reverse side had a Roman "V" for 5, but the word "cents" was missing from the coin. So liberty head nickels by the thousands were gold-plated and passed off as $5 gold pieces. It proved even more valuable when a storekeeper at the mint Iron Tail of the Sioux, and Two Moons of the Cheyenne. Of the nickels with a 1913 date — a three, only Chief Big Tree is year after the coin went out of still alive.

The Indian head nickel appeared in 1913 with a design made by James Earl Fraser, a noted American sculptor. Taxay said Fraser offered his help because "he wanted the new nickel to be something truly American."

The head was an idealized portrait of three Indian chiefs John Big Tree of the Iroquois, Chief Big Tree, who was the nose and forehead of the image, is 101 and lives on the Onondaga reservation near Syracuse, N.Y.

The Jefferson nickel, designed by Felix Schlag, appeared in 1938 and is being minted at an ever increasing rate to meet demand.

And what is the museum going to hand out as souvenirs during the centennial? Wooden nickels.

"Walter is in an ugly spot. He's old enough to drive a car, but too young to afford the insurance!"

LYNNVILLE CWF HEARS REPORT ON STATE MEET

Mrs. Claude Jewsbury reported on the state convention held recently at Centralia when the day group of the Lynnville Christian Women's Fellowship met May 4 with Mrs. Harold Hamel and Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. Henry Mason, leader, presided. The group voted to hold a bakeless bake sale, proceeds to be used for sanctuary piano fund. Mrs. Harold Hamel and Mrs. James Fox were appointed committee for the sale.

Blouses—Pastels, prints, solids, novelties. $2-$3-$4. EMPORIUM Budget Shop.

Mrs. Mason led the worship period. Called to be Stewards. Refreshments were served by the hostesses after the meeting and May baskets were filled with homemade cookies and taken to the Illinois Christian Home.

Skilled artisans of the Ivory Coast still carve the handsome elephant - tusk figurines that gave their country its name. Economic advance has changed most of the nation's other traditional ways, however. Abidjan, a fisherman's camp at the turn of the century, has fluorescent-lit highways with cloverleafs and gleaming buildings reminiscent of Miami Beach.

Real tapestry can be woven only by hand.

CHAPIN CIRCLE VOTES TO HELP CANCER DRIVE

CHAPIN—The Mary and Martha Circle of St. Paul's Lutheran church met April 28 with Lena Sieving, Ada Schumacher and Mabel Werries as hostesses.

Mrs. Alfred Detmer, president, opened the meeting with a hymn. Devotions were led by Mrs. Loren Brockhouse, Mrs. Arlo Schumacher, Mrs. Alpha Nergenh and Mrs. Arthur Nergenh.

Mrs. Robert Burrus gave the secretary's report, and Mrs. Marvin Kunzeman the treasurer's report. A contribution was voted to the Morgan County Cancer Crusade.

Bessie Nergenh, Gladys Nergenh and Clara Nienhiser directed the entertainment after the meeting.

Allied For Health

Passavant Trustee Board's Operating Committee

Many people in the community work regularly in support of our local "Alliance For Health," which is the theme for National Hospital Week, May 8-14. Among them are these mothers of the operating committee of Passavant Memorial Area Hospital's Board of Trustees, shown above at a meeting of the operating committee. From the left, they are Robert Sibert, Mrs. William Gross, Wayne Herrin, Bill Buchanan, Administrator William Mitchell, Harold McCarty, Mrs. John Murray, and Rollyn Trotter.

Passavant's Board of Trustees is responsible for the operation of the hospital, and this committee helps to shape policies to meet current problems and to plan for the future services PMAH will provide as a growing community health center.

The hospital is owned by the Protestant churches in the area it serves. Each congregation elects one or more representatives to the Board of Governors, which in turn elects each year four outstanding citizens to six-year terms on the Board of Trustees. There are 24 trustees, with rotating terms arranged so that four members retire each year and four new ones are elected. This insures that leadership for the hospital is provided by a changing group representing the entire community.

Urges Pat On The Back For Teens

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — How long has it been since you've taken a teen-ager to lunch?

Why not do so today — just as a gesture of peace and to let him know you recognize him as a member of the human race? Surely there is a teen-ager in your neighborhood who doesn't carry a switchblade knife, gulp goofballs, or go around beating up old people and snatching purses.

The teen-ager in recent years has been the target of a lot of abuse from reformers, social critics and professional woecriers. It is as if we grewups, seeing the mess the world is in, were trying to wash out our own guilt by making our next generation feel guilty.

Many teen-agers feel it is them against the world, for everywhere they turn they meet a fresh tirade.

What the average teen-ager needs is not so much a friend in court — because he isn't haled into court — but a friend out of court. He doesn't need someone to gnaw-pick him to death, but someone to try to understand his confusion and groping dreams.

Adults smile tolerantly or sneer intolerantly at the problems of adolescence. But being an adolescent is a terrible ordeal, a lonely and private struggle.

slightly from the record set in March. Buying of durable goods was the weak point. Nondurable goods purchases continued to rise.

The construction spending rate slowed slightly last month, according to preliminary estimates of the Census Bureau. Housing prospects, in particular, look far from promising.

Another possible hint of a change in public psychology has come early in May. Mutual savings banks report a pickup in deposits, where April had seen a big outflow, largely caused by higher interest rates available elsewhere. The May pickup seems to be more a case of saving rather than spending. Bankers say that some of the May deposit increases came from money received from securities sales on the jittery stock market.

As such savings go up, it means that money that could have gone into consumer buying — increasing the inflation threat — is being stashed away. Another cut in consumer spending could develop involuntarily this month as many paychecks shrink, due to larger withholding for personal income taxes.

Merchants also are watching for any effect on sales of the big drop in stock prices earlier this month. Sales of luxury items often bear some relation to the stock market. A bull market is likely to increase the demand for these goods. Stock losses, even if only on paper, sometimes chill buying enthusiasm.

Businessmen are reported trimming their earlier estimates of how much will be spent this year for new plants and equipment. Part of this may be in response to a plea by President Johnson for restraint to ward off inflation. Still more of the cut probably is due to developing shortages in materials and manpower, to lengthening delivery times and to tighter credit.

of the reaching soul, a swim for life in trouble waters.

Never again in this world does one need as much help as he does in the eight years between 12 and 20, when all's in doubt and nought seems certain. Never again will he have to sift and choose between so many conflicting and bewildering values and possibilities.

For all the appalling wildness of a minority of teen-agers, the typical one today really isn't so bad, is he?

He may watch television too much, talk on the telephone too long, be a bit brash in dealing with his elders, afflicted with acne, and subject to leg cramps if he has to walk more than three blocks.

They are more than balanced by virtues. The teen-ager is being lazyboned shirker. He is being stuffed with ever-expanding knowledge as if he were a Strasbourg goose, and spends more hours studying at school and at home than most men work in offices or factories.

He is no soft-muscled coward either. He is carrying the brunt of a jungle and air war in faroff Viet Nam, a war as tough as American men have ever fought anywhere. These young soldier idealists — and most of them are idealistic about their mission — should be our nation's major pride.

The truth is that the American teen-ager, on the whole, is as good as any that time has ever produced. And instead of knocking him, it might be a good idea to take the kid out to lunch, pat him on the back and tell him how lucky we are to have him around in days that may get more dangerous before they get safer.

3rd Term

Mrs. Rowe Named To District Pilot Post

Mrs. Catherine G. Rowe, charter member of the Pilot Club of Jacksonville, received the honor of being elected treasurer of District 12, Pilot International, for the 3rd consecutive year at the 25th annual District convention the latter part of April at Davenport, Iowa.

Catherine G. Rowe

The office of treasurer is one of three elective offices at District level. District 12 includes six midwest states with a membership of 698 business and professional women.

During the convention Mrs. Rowe conducted a council for incoming club treasurers, presenting the proper method of planning a correct budget and handling of records.

The Jacksonville Pilot is well qualified for the post having served her own club as treasurer three and one-half years before attaining District office. Mrs. Rowe is also serving the local club as treasurer for the 1966 - 67 year.

ROODHOUSE ALUMNI DINNER MAY 14

ROODHOUSE — The Roodhouse Alumni Association, according to the president, Myron McClenning, will hold its 1966 Alumni banquet on May 14 in the First Baptist Church basement at 7 p.m. The meal will be served by the Della Phila-thea Class of the church.

The White Hall Alumni Association is sponsoring a dance at the North Greene gymnasium from 9 till 12 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door.

The Roodhouse American Legion Post is sponsoring a dance honoring the Alumni with the "Key Notes" furnishing the music at the Legion Home.

These tickets will also be available at the door.

The banquet tickets, which are $1.75, will be sold in advance with 125 printed. These tickets may be purchased from any board member: Myron McClenning, Mrs. Vivian Woller-man, Mrs. Dixie Hinegardner, Mrs. Jane Early, Mrs. Helen Bates Strang or from Day's Drugs or Hopkins Jewelry Store.

Persons wishing tickets should call immediately as they will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

The classes of 1916 and 1941 will be honored at the banquet.

Denounce Kerner Idea Of More Appointments

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Two leading Republican officeholders have denounced Gov. Otto Kerner's proposal that all state officials except the governor, the lieutenant governor, the attorney general and the public defender be appointed by the governor.

Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction, in a speech to the Cass County Republican Women's Club in Beardstown, said the proposed change of the state Constitution had surprised him.

"The governor's statement startled me," Page said, "because as I see it by having the election of officers this provides a system of checks and balances and I trust the people of this state would be reluctant to put all power into one man's hands at this time."

In Springfield, Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston said Kerner's suggestion would "knock the pants off" the governor's proposal to hold a convention to revamp the state's 1870 Constitution.

Kerner's suggestion of the amendment in a letter to state Rep. Marjorie Peabody, R-Riverdale, and chairman of the legislative constitutional study commission.

and promise to reinstate the 360 workers before the strike will be called off.

Some 200 picketers marched in a driving rain in front of the downtown building where the Public Aid Department is headquartered Wednesday.

The IUPAE is demanding an election to determine whether it or Local 73, Building Service International Union, shall be the sole bargaining agent.

Hilliard described the members of the IUPAE as "young, inexperienced and just out of school."

He said he plans to file charges with the Civil Service Commission to seek the dismissal of all employees who participated in the walkout.

He said the walkout would not affect the efficiency of the department.

The resolution also asked the state architect to give assistance to Loukas and Sen. Richard Larson, R-Galesburg.

In reporting on his recent visit to the campus, Loukas said his investigation is no longer based on anonymous letters. The letters had alleged irregularities in construction.

Loukas said witnesses who were available for interrogation are James Thompson, a former Eastern Illinois professor of business law at San Jose College, California; Gerald Greaves, former head of the university physical plant at Charleston; and Jon Woods, former editor of the university student newspaper and now an editor in Decatur.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston, audit commission chairman, asked Loukas about an allegation that a building was erected directly on the ground without foundation support. Loukas replied that he needed architectural assistance to determine this.

"We should go forward," Loukas said. "If nothing comes of it, at least this comes of it: You relieve Eastern of a cloud. If something comes of it, we should know about it so we can protect the integrity of state funds."

Arrington said the legal and architectural assistants to Loukas should be provided their expenses by their own offices.

Secretary of State Paul Powell, who appeared before the audit commission, said he will seek restitution from Frank (Porky) Porcaro for alleged improper expenses while he was a driver license investigator. Porcaro has since resigned.

An audit last week showed irregularities in travel expenses collected by Porcaro during his 15 months' employment. The expenses totaled $11,187.

Powell said he had given a full report to State's Atty. Raymond Terrell of Sangamon County on Porcaro's expenses. If Terrell doesn't take legal action, Powell said he will ask the attorney general's office to sue for restitution.

Frank Whitney of Springfield, former Illinois auditor general who has been retained by Powell, said procedures are being tightened in line with recommendations of Louie Roberts, present auditor general.

Loukas criticized Powell's office for using undercover agents to check on driver license examiners. Loukas called the practice a "Gestapo method" and said undercover men "bait the examiners by trying to push money at them."

Powell, defending the practice, said it prevents examiners from issuing licenses to drivers who shouldn't have them.

Loukas also criticized the Illinois State Fair management for hiring an auditing firm to do an internal accounting job which the firm had recommended while working for the audit commission.

"I think it could be like bribery," Loukas said.

Auditor General Roberts disagreed, saying he had "more confidence in the profession than that." The commission ordered him to hire a different firm to audit the fair the next time.

101st Airborne Brigade were thrown into battle.

About 90 miles northeast of Saigon, in a thick, tropical jungle, the paratroopers attacked an estimated 200 to 250 men. An American military spokesman said they were Viet Cong. Vietnamese sources said it was the crack 141st North Vietnamese regiment which had recently moved into the area.

American troops ploughing through the jungle poured fire on a small enemy unit Wednesday afternoon, and toward the end of the day enemy fire grew stronger, indicating a larger force. American artillery fired 1,500 shells into the jungle and advancing paratroopers found 14 dead insurgents and three weapons.

Monsoon rains pelted the jungle.

The Marines launched two new operations in the northern part of South Viet Nam, supported by massive artillery and air barrages.

Sixty helicopters airlifted a large Marine force 18 miles west of the coastal city of Quang Ngai as Marine pilots plastered the area before the landing. Supported by Vietnamese army units, the advancing Marines blew up an intricate Viet Cong tunnel network.

In addition to the Haiphong missile site, American targets in North Viet Nam included highways, bridges, railroad tracks and storage depots.

The road through the Mu Gia pass, a gateway to the Ho Chi Minh trail, was reported cut in three places. U.S. pilots have repeatedly reported blocking the pass, but the Communists have always reopened it quickly. U.S. planes flew 87 missions against the Communist North.

Romney Names GOP Candidate To Empty Seat

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Robert P. Griffin, a Republican with labor image problems, got an early push for November's U.S. Senate race when Gov. George Romney named him Wednesday to a vacant Senate seat.

The appointment was no surprise, Griffin, 42, already was the Michigan GOP hierarchy's "preferred candidate" for the seat from which 71-year-old Sen. Patrick J. McNamara, a Democrat, planned to retire Jan. 2. McNamara died April 30.

Griffin's appointment raised GOP Senate membership to 33. There are 67 Democrats.

Griffin, on a congressional tour in Saigon, South Viet Nam, told Romney by telephone he would come to Lansing Saturday for his certificate of appointment. He will be sworn in next week.

A Traverse City attorney, Griffin had been rated an underdog whether the Democratic nominee is former Gov. G. Mennen Williams or Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

State Audit Group Asks Aid In Investigation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Legislative Audit Commission Wednesday requested state agencies to give legal and architectural aid to its subcommittee investigation of construction of Eastern Illinois University buildings.

A commission resolution asked Atty. Gen. William G. Clark to supply an assistant attorney general and an investigator to Rep. James Loukas, D-Chicago, subcommittee chairman.

Clark had advised the commission it was not obliged to pursue the investigation because it was based on allegations made only in anonymous letters.

The resolution also asked the state architect to give assistance to Loukas and Sen. Richard Larson, R-Galesburg.

In reporting on his recent visit to the campus, Loukas said his investigation is no longer based on anonymous letters. The letters had alleged irregularities in construction.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market plunged sharply late this afternoon amid pessimism about cutbacks in the auto industry.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.7 million shares compared with 7.47 million Wednesday.

Ford's record sales for the first 10 days of May boosted that stock and led to hopes of a general recovery from recent declines in the industry but sales reports were late in coming from General Motors and Chrysler.

Comprehensive selling took over. Ford erased a small gain and eased. GM sank 1 1/2, Chrysler nearly 4.

Earlier, the market had been easy but in the afternoon some gains were erased and the entire list sagged.

Losses were biggest among the glamor stocks which have scored the largest advances this year. Fairchild Camera lost 8, Motorola 5, Polaroid 7, Xerox 6, U.S. Smelting 4, Zenith 7 and Raytheon 2.

Down about 3 points were Anaconda, Kennecott and Eastman Kodak, which helped drag down the Dow Jones industrial average more than 13 points by late afternoon. This was one of the year's worst losses.

General Electric sagged more than 2, Westinghouse Electric 2, IBM 2, American Smelting about 2 1/2, Union Carbide 1. Du Pont erased a gain and traded about unchanged.

Among airlines, Eastern lost 4, United, American and Pan American 2 or more.

Rails also took sharp losses. New York Central fell nearly 3, Pennsylvania well over 2.

Prices fell in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were unchanged to slightly lower. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

The entire population of Pitcairn Island, a tiny volcanic dot two square miles in area in the eastern Pacific, is descended from mutineers of the HMS Bounty, commanded by Capt. William Bligh. The population figure recently given was 128. It was settled in 1790 by Fletcher Christian and his followers after they burned and abandoned the captured ship.

FDR JR. RESIGNS COMMISSION JOB

WASHINGTON (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. resigned Wednesday as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission — reportedly to run for governor of New York.

Roosevelt handed his resignation to President Johnson at the White House late Wednesday afternoon. Roosevelt, 51, left by a side door and newsmen did not get a chance to question him, but an aide said he submitted his resignation.

The aide said Roosevelt will hold a news conference Thursday morning in New York City, presumably to announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the New York governorship.

The aide quoted Roosevelt as saying of the session with the President: "It was a very pleasant meeting."

REBEKAH 13 BANQUET WILL BE MAY 13

FORMER MISSOURI GOVERNOR DIES

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Former Missouri Gov. Henry S. Caulfield died Wednesday at a St. Louis convalescent center. He was 92 years old.

Caulfield, a Republican, was governor from 1929 to 1933. He was the oldest of Missouri's four living former governors.

He suffered a broken hip last November and had been living at the convalescent home since Dec. 1.

Wants Industry To Do More For Training Jobless

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Industry and business are not doing their share to train the unemployed to fill the estimated 100,000 vacant jobs in Illinois, the state director of labor said today.

"If I am wrong, please correct me," said Director John E. Cullerton, "but I believe there is an unwarrented reluctance on the part of business and industry to sign on-the-job training contracts and to participate in the cooperative training programs."

Cullerton appealed to the "self interest" of employers in a speech at the Industrial Development Conference sponsored by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

Substantially full employment was reached by July 1965, Cullerton said, and the state has been in a "growing manpower pinch" since then.

While the state has at least 100,000 unfilled jobs, he said, there are at least 150,000 persons out of work, including the aged, the unskilled, the illiterate and those who have lost hope.

While Illinois job training programs are recognized as among the best in the country, Cullerton said, their overall results have been discouraging.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill. (AP) — Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction, said Wednesday he was startled by Gov. Otto Kerner's proposal that all state executive branch officials except the governor and lieutenant governor be appointed by the governor.

"The governor's statement startled me because as I see it by having the election of officials this provides a system of checks and balances and I trust the people of this state would be reluctant to put all power into one man's hands at this time," he said.

Kerner suggested in a letter to state Rep. Marjorie Peabody, R-Riverdale and chairman of Legislative Constitutional Study Commission, that the Constitution be amended to do away with electing state officials other than governor and lieutenant governor.

Page spoke to about 150 women at a reception in his honor given by the Cass County Republican Women's Club.

U.S. TURNED DOWN CHINA OFFER ON NUCLEAR BAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department acknowledged Wednesday that the United States had turned down a Chinese Communist proposal on limiting the use of nuclear weapons.

"We do not feel it was a constructive step toward the problem of disarmament," press officer Robert J. McCloskey said.

"We do not feel they have a legitimate and constructive interest in disarmament. If they had, they would have manifested this by signing the nuclear test ban treaty."

The State Department thus replied to a charge by Communist China's Premier Chou En-lai that the United States had rejected Peking's effort to exchange declarations that the two nuclear powers would not be the first to use such weapons of destruction.

McCloskey avoided saying how or when the proposal was made, but he commented that "the Chinese profess to believe that such declarations without controls would be a sufficient guarantee."

Cars Hide Dangers That Motorists Ride With Day After Day

For the driver who turns his car ignition key, takes hold of the wheel, and steps on the gas, operating a motor vehicle may seem like a simple operation.

But, thorough knowledge of the operation of a car, or truck, is not easy, and hidden dangers are likely to arise from lack of proper maintenance.

The steering mechanism on a motor vehicle, one of the essential elements for safe driving, is complex, and can often become faulty without the motorist's knowledge.

Although many new cars and trucks carry a certain mileage warranty, the steering device can often cause many headaches.

Driving down a street, a motorist runs into a chuck-hole, bumps into a curb, or strikes an object, such as a rock in the road.

DONALD LORD TO DIRECT NUMBER AT CONCERT SUNDAY

The guest conductor at the annual Spring Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 15th, played by the JHS Senior Symphonic Band, will be Donald Lord of Evergreen Park, Ill., formerly of Jacksonville.

Donald Lord

Mr. Lord is a former vocal music instructor at Jacksonville High School leaving here in 1960 to become Director of Choral Music at the Evergreen Park Community High School. The six year old school at that time had an almost non-existent choral program, requiring Lord to build up the high school program by also teaching at the town's Central Junior High School. By 1963 the high school program had developed to such an extent to demand full time at that grade level.

Mr. Lord has served as chairman for several choral sight reading sessions at the Illinois Music Educators' Association convention and as Clinician on Secondary Music Education at high school teacher institutes.

The former Jacksonville instructor has a unique phase in his vocal program having introduced the playing of recorders. Evergreen Park high is possibly the only such high school in the northern part of the state having a program using these early instruments.

Mr. Lord will lead the band in The Town Crier March, by Leonard B. Smith.

Following the concert a reception will be held at the school library honoring O. A. Schuffe, instrumental music teacher in the grade schools here the past 20 years who is closing a 45 year teaching career this year.

ISHAM INQUEST HELD TUESDAY AT CARROLLTON

CARROLLTON—W. H. Wolfe, Greene county coroner, held an inquest May 10 at the Hires Funeral Home concerning the death of Franklin Isham which occurred April 7. Mr. Isham lost control of a truck and it overturned at the Valstad Quarry at Kane where he was employed. The truck struck Isham as it turned over and death was almost instantaneous. After hearing the evidence in the case the verdict of the jury was accidental death.

L. A. Hardaway was the foreman of the jury and the members were Gene Wagener, Donald Reynolds, Donald Sample, F. L. Inus and Charlie Combs.

Reduce Property Tax For Greene Complainants

CARROLLTON — Keith Sturman and William G. Vogt appeared this summer before the Greene county board of review concerning valuation of their property and their taxes. In each case the board reduced the valuation of their property.

The case of the two against Jesse Hires, the Greene county treasurer was heard Monday by Judge L. A. Mehrhoff. Upon agreement of the attorneys for the petitioners and Jack Alfeld, the state's attorney, it was ordered that the taxes in question be refunded by the treasurer. Sturman received a refund of $59.63; and W. G. Vogt a refund of $275.38.

Wm. D. Blair Of Chandlerville Dies Wednesday

CHANDLERVILLE — William David Blair of Chandlerville, died at 10:45 p.m. Wednesday at the Menard Convalescent Home in Petersburg where he had been cared for the past two and one-half months.

Mr. Blair was born in Cass county Oct. 25, 1883, the son of David and Ann Davis Blair. He was married at Bowling Green, Mo. on Mar. 28, 1908 to Myrtle Collins. She survives with these children, Mrs. Albert Dearing, Mrs. Jane Stokov, both of Canton; Mrs. Pauline Kramer, and Sherrell, both of Chandlerville; Russell and Darrell, Petersburg and Bill Ashland. There are 17 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

One brother, James Blair of Unionville, Mo. survives. Fourteen brothers and sisters preceded the deceased in death.

The remains were taken to the Lintner-Buchanan Funeral Home here where friends may call 7 to 9 p.m. Friday.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home with Rev. James Cook officiating. Interment will be in Mt. Olive cemetery.

MORGAN SOCIETY IS INVITED TO "KERNER NIGHT"

Members and guests of the Morgan County Historical Society have been invited by the Springfield Civil War Round Table to attend a "Governor Kerner Appreciation Night" on May 21, with dinner at 7:30 preceded by a social hour at 6 p.m.

According to Miss Ruth Bailey, secretary of the local historical society, persons in the community who wish to attend the dinner and program in Springfield should telephone her at 243-2923 for additional information.

Activities for the preservation of state and national heritage will be stressed during the program. A concert of Choral music will be presented by the Springfield Municipal Choir.

Assisting the Springfield C.W.R.T. as host are the Abraham Lincoln Association and the Sangamon County Historical Society.

GRAND JURY INSPECTS JAIL

A committee of seven members of the Morgan County Grand Jury filed their report on an inspection of the Morgan county jail Thursday morning, calling attention to several details noticed on the visit.

The committee recommended replacement of light fixtures in the rest rooms and in jail cells at the county lockup.

They also recommended that something be done to a hallway leading to showers which they said could become slippery.

Final item on the list included replacement of a cook stove which is reportedly 26 years old.

The report of the committee was signed by Wilbur E. Brown, foreman. Other members of the committee included: Gladys E. Dunlap, Irma Wiegand, John Killam, O. E. Freeman, Earl D. Biggs and Lloyd W. Dahman.

An anvil and a sword are associated with Saint Adrian. These were the instruments of his martyrdom.

Grandma Moses Original At Strawn Gallery

A genuine painting by "Grandma Moses" is on display at the Strawn Art Gallery on West College avenue until May 21st. Anna Mary Robertson, better known as "Grandma Moses," began painting when she was 79 years of age. She won popular acclaim for her pictures done from memory and imagination in the primitive style.

Looking cheerful as a Christmas card and twice as colorful, this large oil painting is one of twenty-four sent on loan to the Jacksonville Art Association from the permanent collection of International Business Machines Corporation. All are of great beauty and artistic interest, including Edward Hopper's "Compartment C," Byron Thomas' "Night Ball Game," and a delicate "Snow, Central Park South" by Chen Chi.

These pictures are all originals, not copies. They are the closing exhibit of the 1966 season for the Gallery. The annual series of exhibits is made possible by the proceeds from the annual Beaux Arts Ball and presented to the Jacksonville community free of charge.

The current show runs through Sunday, May 21. Week-day hours are 3 to 5 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m.; Sundays 3 to 5 p.m. only.

Saturday Work Day For 'Sandy Beach' If Weather Permits

A community work day at Project Sandy Beach will be held Saturday, May 14, starting at 8 o'clock in the morning.

The work day will be held unless it happens to be pouring down rain, according to Aldermen Homer Baptist and Carl Bourn.

Baptist said a "short day" of clearing still remains to get the area into shape and this will require the use of a bulldozer.

Saturday will be a time when as many volunteers as possible will be needed to clear out and pick up tree roots scattered over the beach site and proposed parking area.

"The pickup work and allied tasks requiring the use of gloves and a small hand ax cannot be done by machine," Alderman Bourn said Thursday. "Bulldozers are doing a fine job of removing the unwanted trees, mostly thorny locusts, but many tree roots are scattered over the area in the process. These have to be removed before leveling operations of a more gradual can start."

Wear Gloves, Long Sleeves
Young and old alike will have an opportunity to do the pick-up work although Harold Walker is assisting the judiciary committee by handling volunteers at the beach site. He urged volunteers to wear gloves and long-sleeved shirts or jackets. Any women who volunteer their services should also wear slacks.

Reason for the recommended dress is that some of the branches and roots from the locust trees may still have thorns plus a generous supply of poison ivy and oak. There were no reported cases of injury or poison ivy from last week's work day.

North Shore Of Lake
The proposed Sandy Beach site is located on the north shore of Lake Jacksonville a short distance west of the present boat landing. The project is designed as a crash program to solve the local swimming problem for this year and then continue to augment the swimming facilities for future years.

Donations Needed
Development of the site will be from funds donated by the residents of the Jacksonville community, augmented with pledges of work and material donated by craftsmen and suppliers of special equipment and skill.

Donations of money, large or small, are needed as soon as possible. They should be sent to: Project Sandy Beach, City Hall, Jacksonville, Illinois, 62650.

Depending upon the number and size of donations of cash, skills and material, the project should be completed for use in early summer.

Miss Crawford is president of the MacMurray College choir, choir director at the First Baptist church, Jacksonville, and assistant housemother in the freshman dormitory.

She is a senior music education major at MacMurray. Her plans for next year include teaching vocal music in elementary school.

The public is welcome to attend the recital.

JUDGE APPOINTS PUBLIC DEFENDER IN TWO CASES

Associate Circuit Judge John B. Wright Thursday morning appointed Public Defender Larry Flynn to represent two defendants indicted by a grand jury Wednesday. Flynn will represent the two men in all future court actions.

James E. Jackson, 47, charged with robbery in connection with a beating involving a Jacksonville insurance man April 21 near Meredosa, appeared before Judge Wright and asked that the public defender be appointed. Jackson told the court he was without funds of his own to hire an attorney.

Gilbert Rex Browning, 26, of Pittsfield, charged with theft by deception involving purchase of a car at Glissom Motor Co. April 23, appeared before Judge Wright and asked that the public defender be appointed to represent him in future court action.

Neither defendant was asked to enter a plea Thursday morning.

Both are being held in the county jail, Jackson under $10,000 bond and Browning under $3,000 bond.

State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan represented the people at Thursday's court session.

Sex Researchers Get Hundreds Of Letters

By JERRY CURRY
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Two researchers who wrote a text on sex physiology have been flooded with hundreds of letters since the book was released three weeks ago. Dr. William H. Masters and a psychologist, Virginia E. Johnson, wrote "Human Sexual Response." The book is based on an 11-year laboratory study at Washington University of sexual stimulation in 694 men and women.

Masters said about 30 per cent of the mail is divided evenly among unsigned crank criticism, honest disagreement, and encouragement. He said the other 70 per cent comes from people with problems of sexual inadequacy.

"In our age it takes courage to admit sexual problems," Masters said. "It has been our experience that after people gather their courage to write us once, they probably won't again unless they are directed toward help in the immediate future."

Mail to the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation, which the team helped to create, has increased measurably since their book's publication April 18. The first printing sold out in three days.

"We are amazed at the response to the book," Masters said. "It was totally unexpected, not only for us but the publishers. They were not prepared for it either. The text was written primarily for the medical and behavioral professions."

"Human Sexual Response," illustrated and written in the matter-of-fact technical language of the scientist, describes bodily processes during sexual relations. A glossary of terms is at the rear of the 365-page volume. The textbook was published by Little Brown and Co. of Boston, Mass.

"I hope people who buy the book will read it," said Masters. "But there is an awful lot of dry reading that will be skipped by those not interested in basic physiology."

Royalties from the book sales will be divided equally among the research foundation, Masters and Mrs. Johnson. For 18 months, the two scientists have been studying data for a second volume, "Human Sexual Inadequacy." This book will involve clinical applications of their earlier findings.

Operation Sandy Beach Needs Help

As Alderman Homer Baptist pointed out at the last meeting of the City Council cash contributions are urgently needed if suitable swimming conditions are to be provided at Lake Jacksonville this summer. A good start has already been made on the project. The area has been carefully selected and volunteers have begun on the sizeable task of clearing and grading the beach. But the city has no available money for building a bathhouse and for other expenses. If the plan is to succeed the community must respond to the appeal for funds generously and promptly.

We believe that the program deserves whole-hearted support. The lake swimming area will not take the place of a modern pool at Nichols Park, nor will it lessen the need for the establishment of a Park District.

Sandy Beach, however, can be more than just a temporary makeshift arrangement to accommodate swimmers this summer. If properly developed there is no reason why it cannot become a permanent recreational asset. One needs only to observe the excellent use which the 4-H Groups have made of their camp on the Lake.

As this editorial is being written reports of record cold temperatures for May are coming in from all sections of the mid-west. Yet just as surely as the sun rises each day it will soon be hot and humid corn weather. When the good old summertime finally arrives it will do so with a vengeance. Let's hope then there's a good swimming spot close to home. You can do something about it by sending your check to Project Sandy Beach.

Ky's Dictatorial View

The seriousness of the administration's mistake in embracing Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky so ostentatiously at the Honolulu conference is becoming more and more evident. There can be little doubt that the South Vietnamese premier, who holds that title only by virtue of a military takeover, does not intend to abide by the voice of the people unless the voice says what he wants it to say.

Having previously hinted that he would oppose any elected government which did not suit him, Prime Minister Ky has now flatly stated this dictatorial position. If the civilian government which emerges from the promised elections turns out to be Communist-dominated or even neutralist, says Ky, "I and my friends will fight it."

Some may construe this as a manifestation of admirable patriotic spirit. It is not that at all, but a denial of the democratic process. In effect, the head of the military junta which seized power and maintains its rule by the use of threat of armed force is saying to the people: Vote our way, or don't bother.

Presumably it is Ky and his fellow generals who will decide whether the government chosen by popular vote—if, indeed, the elections do actually take place—meets their specifications and will be allowed by them to take over. The present regime will not relinquish control willingly. Nor does it anticipate having to do so very soon. This is made plain by Ky's statement that he plans to keep his military government in power for at least another year.

If Ky's present ideas are followed, this timetable may not be far off. Instead of the original plan for election of a national assembly within a few months to appoint a civilian government, he now advocates a much slower process. This would entail election of a constitution—drafting assembly, followed eventually by choice of a legislative assembly which would at length name a civilian government.

Achieving democratic civilian control will be a slow enough process at best. If the Ky regime is able to indulge its evident taste for delay and circumvention, representative government may be long time in coming and may not come at all.

Dear Ann:

Already Blessed a Hundredfold

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are the proud parents of two beautiful children—a beautiful boy three years old and a 10-month-old baby girl. We adopted these youngsters through the Tennessee department of welfare.

Not a week goes by that someone doesn't say, "It certainly is wonderful of you to take those poor little children into your home. God will bless you some day for your kindness."

The remarks are invariably made in the presence of the children who are too young to understand, but one day soon they will.

How can we make people realize that these children have made our house a home and that God has already blessed us a hundredfold? Please provide us with an answer that will assure our children that we love them and we did not take them into our home because we felt sorry for them. Thank you. —MRS. FURIOUS

Dear Mrs.: Children are given the warm feeling that they are wanted and loved by the way they are treated and not by listening to their parents talk to friends.

THOUGHTS

"Peace be within your walls, and security within your towers." —Psalms 122:7.

Prejudice, ignorance, bitterness, are the great obstacles to peace. —Joseph A. T. V. (The Leitchfield)

I do feel that you should respond to your ignorant acquaintances, however, not to reassure your children, but to educate the clods. Tell them—as you told me in your letter—that God has already blessed you, and that the children have enriched your lives beyond your ability to describe it.

Dear Ann Landers: My letter is to let you know I am with you ALL the way on this tipping nonsense.

You said, "People who do not believe in tipping should (1) park their own cars on the street—if they can find a space, (2) eat at home, (3) carry their coats and hats around all evening."

If enough of us who are against tipping will take your advice, Ann, the restaurant, hotel and tavern owners, the parking lot tycoons and others will surely feel the pinch and do something drastic—like pay their employees a living wage. —TIP-OF BEING BLED

Dear Tired: You make an excellent point, but your solution would not ease the burden of the customer. The increased cost of doing business would be passed right along to you and to me in the form of higher prices. As for me, I'd prefer higher prices and no tipping, but the prospects of getting it are mighty slim.

Dear Ann Landers: The confidantals at the foot of your column have always intrigued me. You once explained that these messages are abbreviated not to print the letter—but just the advice.

Although some of the confidantals are fairly obscure I can often guess what the letter was about. And now I wonder if you would do something I don't believe you've ever done before. Will you let a reader supply a confidential? I'm reaching to say something to the three daughters who want their 70-year-old mother to move in with one of them. They are afraid if mama goes to an old folks' home the neighbors might think the daughters didn't want to take her in.

Here is my Confidential: Confidential to Three Daughters: Let your mother go where she will be comfortable. You have given her so little of your time and attention through the years that she knows how you really feel. I hope your mother leaves her money to charity or to some old man she met last week. —ALSO INDEPENDENT AND UNWANTED

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Washington Impatient Negroes Eager To End White Man's Sop

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—

North and South, restless Negroes are trying to break past the barrier of tokenism in the desegregation of schools, jobs and housing. New checks, made here and in the field, reveal no startling new gains.

A civil rights spokesman in the capital says impatience with the small measure of progress is still rising. In some parts of the country, the Negroes' mood is almost "antipolitical," so disenchanted are they with hearty promises given but largely unfulfilled.

The time has gone when either leaders or rank and file are impressed by appointments of Negroes to high-level federal or other government positions. These symbolic gestures are today taken for granted as overdue and indicative of nothing broadly substantial.

What they dwell upon are such facts as that 90 per cent of all U.S. children still are in totally segregated schools, that housing is still a shack-and-shanty existence for millions of Negroes, that good jobs are scarce.

There is change, of course. In a state like Alabama, Negroes are turning up on civic boards, the Chamber of Commerce, the medical society. They have jobs in factories, stores, hospitals, even the police force.

One southern white moderate, a businessman, nevertheless argues that too much of this is mere token compliance with new law and the changing times. Says he:

"They put them out in the showcase reception room so people will say: 'Well, I see they've integrated.' But often it's a case of one in 500 employees."

The desegregation pace has been admittedly slow, even though a good many southern businessmen say: "We are agreeably surprised how well it has worked out." Newly hired Negroes have done their jobs capably, have fitted in, have been largely accepted by white fellow workers.

Some White Southern moderates whose credentials with the Negro community are good do insist, all the same, that tokenism is really not a bad state of affairs at this point in the racial struggle. Says one:

"It's the best medicine we in the Deep South can have—the exposure to tokenism. It gives us a chance to overcome severely segregationist attitudes. If the gains were massive, hostility would be very great."

Plenty of additional desegregation is scheduled in the years just ahead, this man argues. As it takes place, he suggests, attitudes will slowly change for the better.

Not many northern Negro leaders would agree, but some in the South would. More than a few are said to resent the pressures for speed applied here and there by Dr. Martin Luther King. One source says of these southern leaders:

"They are quite capable of changing things as fast as King or any other human being can do it."

But militancy and growing impatience still govern the Negroes' mood in many places, North and South. Birmingham leaders are pushing against a big steel company for more jobs.

Many southern Negroes are responding eagerly to leader efforts to train them both for voting and for candidate participation, so they can exert greater weight on the job-school-housing front.

In some circles, even in the South, it is fashionable to say, in comment on the urge in many Negroes for quickness on this front: "Today's radical is tomorrow's Uncle Tom."

Tokenism in desegregation may or may not have merit as a contribution to changing white attitudes. Yet to many observers it seems a barrier too frail to hold out for very long against the rising pressures of the unsettled Negro minority.

BERRY'S WORLD

"George Hamilton is a sweet boy, Lynda, but what will we do with TWO actors in the family?"

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—

There is some uncertainty about all of them: weather, dollars, barbs and bullets.

In this strange spring of hot and cold, President Johnson has avoided a shouting match with his critics about the war in Viet Nam. But Wednesday he unloosed a few rather mild barbs of his own.

But, having done this much, there is no indication he intends doing much more in this field himself. He has let others state most of the case for him, like the secretaries of state and defense.

But when Dean Rusk and Robert S. McNamara go before the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, their statements get scrambled in arguments between them and the senators.

What Johnson did Wednesday was to take a sort of sideswipe at Sen. J. W. Fulbright, the critical chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, without once naming him.

In answer to Fulbright, who had thrown words like "arrogance of power" at Johnson, the President simply said, "The exercise of power in this century has meant for the United States not arrogance but agony."

Johnson doesn't seem inclined to go beyond that kind of answer, limited as it was.

He may believe Fulbright and those who agree with him are only a small percentage of the population and therefore don't need any stronger answers than they are getting, which for some critics of the critics isn't enough.

So what lies ahead in this field is uncertain.

But it is not more uncertain than what Johnson will think it necessary to do to stop inflation if only because the inflation question itself is full of uncertainty at this moment.

Johnson is known to believe that whether or not the government feels it must take action—like a tax increase to drain off spendable dollars—depend on these main factors:

Will Congress wind up voting to spend far more money than Johnson asked for or thinks is good for the economy? Will labor content itself with limited wage demands? And will business be satisfied not to boost prices?

And at this point, despite the increasing buildup of American forces in South Viet Nam, there is some uncertainty about what may happen since there is uncertainty about what the Vietnamese people may do.

That applies particularly to the Buddhists who reportedly plunged into strategy conferences when they heard that South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said he expects to remain boss for another year.

Any real explosion among the Vietnamese over Ky and a new government could make hash of all the American efforts to fight a war against a Communist enemy in the north.

So spring is not the only thing that's got people guessing.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Pneumonia Doesn't Cause Those Nagging Chest Pains

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What causes pneumonia?

How long does it take to get over the aching in the chest?

A—There are many causes of pneumonia. The commonest form is caused by the pneumococcus with viral pneumonia running a close second. Pneumonia may also be caused by tularemia, parrot fever, tuberculosis, plague, many fungus diseases and by accidentally inhaling food or other foreign bodies (aspiration pneumonia).

Pneumonia does not cause pain in the chest but may lead to pleurisy, which does. How long a pleurisy can last is subject to many imponderables.

Q—My niece is in her seventh month of pregnancy. She writes that she is jaundiced and must stay in bed. Can she or her baby be saved?

A—The jaundice may be due to infectious hepatitis (coming at an inopportune time) or acute yellow atrophy of the liver (a rare but serious condition associated with pregnancy). In either case, this should be treated as an emergency by a skilled obstetrician.

Q—What is the longest period of gestation on record? In cases where a husband and wife have been separated this may be of legal significance.

A—A definite answer cannot be given because we have no sure way of determining the exact date of conception. It is assumed that it takes place after the middle of the time between the last menstruation and the first missed period.

Cases have been reported in which the duration of pregnancy according to the best estimates available exceeded 11 calendar months but no obstetrician in his right mind would let a pregnancy continue that long today.

Q—Recently I bought a set of Teflon-coated pans and skillets. Today I read that a highly poisonous gas is released when Teflon is heated to 400 degrees Fahrenheit. What do you think?

A—In order to get fumes from Teflon the temperature must reach 380 degrees Centigrade. This is 716 degrees Fahrenheit—a temperature not likely to be reached in a well-ventilated kitchen. If, by chance, you do inhale the fumes of vaporized Teflon you might get a mild respiratory illness resembling influenza, from which you would recover in 48 hours or less without any treatment. If Teflon-coated kitchen utensils were not safe the Food and Drug Administration would not permit their sale.

Mature Parent Child's Silent Protest

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE:

Our 5-year-old boy has started bed-wetting again after nearly two years. As this began soon after we told him we are expecting a second child, we are sure that this news must be worrying him in some way. But we don't know how as he seemed so pleased with it at first and could not ask enough questions about the baby—where it would sleep, when it would be able to play with him. If you have any suggestion...

ANSWER: Did you, by any chance, do a lot of talking about the joys of brotherhood when you gave him your news? Did you say things like: "Oh, you will love the baby... You'll be great friends... You'll be so proud to be a big brother?"

Because children who are about to become brothers or sisters for the first time can respond adversely to such efforts to claim their affection for babies they haven't met. Our demand for their welcoming feeling can send them back to bed-wetting. Their response is:

"Suppose I can't stand this baby these people are shoving into my private life without consulting my wishes? I can't let them know it or they'll be terribly disappointed in me. But suppose I can't control my dislike of the baby? Then they'll discover it, won't they?"

Becoming more and more doubtful of their ability to control their resentment of the baby, they may express their worry about it by losing control of their bladders. Anyway, it can't possibly do any harm to raise the subject of the coming baby in order to give yourself a chance to say:

"Listen, You don't have to like this baby, you know. We can give it the love it needs because we know babies are sweet, having had you as our dear baby. But you don't know enough about babies to know whether you'll like this one or not. So you can feel any way you like about him and it will be all right with us."

It is very intelligent to refuse to intrude on the emotional rights of a prospective brother or sister at a time when resentment at the approaching intrusion of the baby is natural and inevitable. After all, we would all feel some dismay at the obligation to open up the intimacy of our homes to a stranger we'd never met.

We make this premature demand for brotherly love because we want to avoid disturbance by jealousy. Instead of avoiding the jealousy, we make it worse by sending it underground where it expresses itself, not in words, but in bed-wetting and other forms of protest behavior.

Stuff Fresh Avocados With Crab

STUFFED AVOCADOS feature tasty crabmeat.

By GAYNOR M. DOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The first avocados of the summer are showing up on the greengrocer counters now. They are ideal for making a stuffed avocado salad. Not all avocados are ready to eat when you buy them however. Flavor develops as the fruit begins to soften. To test a summer avocado, hold it in cupped hands and press gently. If it gives, or feels soft, it is ready to serve. Another test to try at home is to insert a toothpick in the stem end; if the avocado is ripe, it will slide in easily. To hasten the softening of avocados, keep them in a warm, humid place.

Stuffed Avocados (Serves 6)

1 (1-pound) package frozen crab meat, thawed and drained and flaked (about 1 1/2 cups)

2 tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped

1 tablespoon cider or wine vinegar

2 teaspoons chopped parsley

1 teaspoon tarragon leaves

1 teaspoon chervil leaves

1 teaspoon chopped chives

1/4 teaspoon salt

1 1/2 cups real mayonnaise

2 tablespoons catsup

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

3 avocados

Western iceberg lettuce

Combine crab meat, chopped tomato, vinegar, parsley, tarragon, chervil, chives and salt. Blend mayonnaise, catsup and Worcestershire sauce. Add to crab mixture. Toss until well-mixed. Chill. Cut avocados in halves lengthwise and twist slightly to pull apart. Remove seeds, but not skin. Fill with crab mixture. Serve immediately in lettuce cups.

Grand Jury Returns Five Indictments

Five indictments were returned by a 23-member Morgan County Grand Jury Wednesday afternoon before Associate Circuit Judge John B. Wright.

The five indictments were against James E. Jackson, 47, of Springfield and William R. Flynn, 37, of Berlin, both charged with robbery of a Jacksonville insurance man April 21 north of Meredosia on the Sunset Beach road. Jackson is currently being held in the county jail under $10,000 bond. Judge Wright ordered a warrant issued for Flynn's arrest and set bond at $10,000.

Larry N. Wease, 18, and Ronald Edward Arnold, 18, both of Jacksonville, were indicted on charges of burglary at the Glison Motor Co. on the night of January 25, 1966. Both young men are being sought by police but have not been apprehended. Judge Wright ordered warrants issued for their arrest and set bond at $5,000 for each.

Gilbert Rex Browning, 23, of Pittsfield was indicted on a charge of theft by deception. Browning was bound over to the grand jury on the charge earlier and is being held in county jail under $5,000 bond. Judge Wright reduced bond to $3,000.

The grand jury returned a "no true bill" for Charles E. Cole of 128 East Superior and the case dismissed. Cole was charged with arson in connection with a Christmas night bombing on Anna Street. Judge Wright ordered the case dismissed against Cole and bond returned.

Wilbur Brown served as foreman of the jury. A committee of eight grand jury members were scheduled to visit the county jail to make recommendations.

State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan presented the evidence before the grand jury.

Members of the grand jury were: Wilbur Brown, foreman, Gladys E. Dunlap, Thelma Mills, Dale E. Adams, Vivian

Pearl Iglehart Found Dead At Home Wednesday

Pearl R. Iglehart, 74, a former Jacksonville resident, was found dead in his trailer at Murrayville, at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The death was discovered by Floyd Smith, Murrayville mayor, who operates a business near the Iglehart trailer. Coroner John B. Martin, who conducted an investigation, said Iglehart had apparently been dead for several days. No inquest is planned.

Mr. Iglehart, who was employed as a baker while living in Jacksonville, moved to Murrayville 12 years ago.

He was born in Mount Vernon Aug. 4, 1891, son of Marion and Alice Fields Iglehart. He was married July 2, 1910 to the former Zella DeCastro, who passed away June 5, 1962.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Smith and a granddaughter, Barbara Harney, both of Jacksonville.

Funeral services will be held at the Williamson Funeral Home at 10:30 a.m. Friday. Reverend William J. Boston will officiate and burial will be in Asbury cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. today.

Pike Woman Dies In Iowa Crash; Another Serious

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP) — Two persons were killed and one seriously injured Wednesday in a head-on crash of two cars during a heavy rain storm on U.S. 218-61 seven miles north of where.

Dead were Henry J. Nehring, 69, of rural New London, and Mrs. Margaret Akron, 69, of Liberty, Ill.

Mrs. Dixie Lovely, 44, of Camp Point, Ill., was listed in serious condition at a Keokuk hospital. She is a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Akron.

Lee County Sheriff H.R. Delahoyde said Mrs. Lovely was driving one car and Nehring was alone in the other.

White Hall High Alumni Banquet Saturday, May 14

WHITE HALL — Tickets went on sale Friday morning at the White Hall National Bank for the banquet of the W.H.H.S. Alumni Assn., to be held Saturday, May 14th, at 6:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

Tickets have been reserved for approximately thirty-nine members, and their guests; two faculty members of the 1916 class, of which there were 39 original members.

Tickets are also being reserved for members of the class of 1906. Nine members and guests plan to attend the banquet, and a reception following at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Evans on North Main St. for class members, their guests and friends of the class.

The 1916 class will be honored with a reception at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roodhouse. White Hall members will serve as hostesses. Class members in the community who did not graduate with the class are also invited to the reception and to the basket dinner at the Lions Park on Sunday at 1:00 p.m.

Meda Hamblin Of Griggsville Dies Wednesday

GRIGGSVILLE — Mrs. Meda S. Hamblin, 66, who made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Melvin Burland of rural Griggsville, passed away early Wednesday at the Burland home.

She was born near Havana Dec. 7, 1899; daughter of Wesley and Hulda Larson Jockisch. She was married to Edward E. Hamblin, who died Feb. 20, 1962.

Surviving are three daughters: Mrs. W. R. Bowman of Augusta, Mrs. Paul Anderson of Highland, Ind. and Mrs. Melvin Burland of rural Griggsville; a son, Edward Hamblin of Burlington, Ia.; 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

She also leaves seven sisters: Mrs. F. O. Smith of Quincy, Mrs. Olen Burgett of Manito, Mrs. Theodore Hamblin of Ipava, Mrs. Frank Shute of Pekin, Miss Marian Jockisch of Pekin, Mrs. James Barclay and Mrs. Paul Irwin, both of Lewistown and two brothers, Paul of San Jose and August of Lewistown.

Mrs. Hamblin was a member of the Pittsfield Church of the Nazarene where funeral services are scheduled at 1:30 Friday. Reverend Cecil Carroll will officiate and burial will be in New Hope cemetery. Friends may call at the Skinner Funeral Home this afternoon and evening and until time of services Friday.

PIKE RESIDENT INJURED AS CAR LEAVES BLACKTOP

PITTSFIELD — Mrs. Sandra Rousey, 22, of rural Liberty, was reported in fair condition at Illini hospital Tuesday following an accident on the Liberty-Barry blacktop Monday evening.

Mrs. Rousey was injured when the car she was driving left the roadway, jumped a ditch, crashed through a fence and came to rest in a creek bed, one and a half miles north of Barry. Police report the accident occurred at about 9:40 p.m. Monday.

Truck Overturns
A Louisiana, Mo. truck driver escaped serious injury when a semi-trailer loaded with anhydrous ammonia overturned near Kinderhook Monday. Alvin Hemphill, 41, told police that he was traveling north on Route 96, two miles north of Kinderhook, when the truck's steering shaft loosened, causing the vehicle to overturn. The driver refused medical attention for apparent minor injuries.

Exceptional Children's Week

The annual dinner of the local chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children was held Tuesday night at the Holiday Inn with sixty people in attendance. Dr. Charles Frank of Illinois College spoke of an interesting facet of English education—the School Journey. The local Council is observing Exceptional Children's Week in Illinois May 8-14.

C.E.C. president, Mrs. Dolores Hill introduced the officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. Rhoda Samore; president elect, William Kaufman; secretary, Miss Mary O'Meara; treasurer, Philip Cronlund. Mrs. Rhoda Samore reported on the recent international C.E.C. convention in Toronto. Announcement was made of the radio program to be presented Thursday evening concerning Exceptional Children's Week in Illinois. Mrs. Hill introduced Miss Delilah Newell, Associate Professor of Education, MacMurray College. Miss Newell is president of the Illinois Council for Exceptional Children.

The above picture shows Ray Page, Superintendent of Public Instruction with the proclamation for Exceptional Children's Week in Illinois. Standing left are Marjorie Kroschgen, Quincy, chairman of public relations for the week within the Illinois CEC (Council for Exceptional Children); William Cary, also of Quincy, chairman for the week's program and Jane Wilson of Springfield, Illinois CEC treasurer.

(22) Communists and "Dwarfs" by Don Oakley and John Lane

Chiang Kai-shek Takes over

Can you not see that a country of 450 million people... cannot be subjugated?
—Chiang Kai-shek

Sun Yat-sen, assured by Russia that it had no subversive intentions, agreed to a formal alliance in 1923. Chinese Communists, who had founded their party in 1921, were ordered by the Kremlin to join the Kuomintang.

Sun sent his young chief-of-staff, Chiang Kai-shek, to Moscow to study the Red Army. Sun died in 1925, his dream of a renewed, reunited China unrealized. In 1926, Chiang launched his successful Northern Expedition against the warlords. Then, alarmed at the growing influence of the Communists, he took the decisive step of his career.

In April 1927, his troops seized the Red stronghold of Shanghai, instituting a reign of terror. Chiang, now virtual dictator, purged the Reds from the party and the major cities. Among the hard-pressed Communists, the voice of one man began to carry weight. Contrary to Stalin's directive to work through the industrial proletariat, which did not exist in China, Mao Tse-tung began organizing the peasants in south China, redistributing the land and building bases for a guerrilla army. In 1931, the Chinese Soviet Republic was proclaimed in Kiangsi province, with Mao as head.

The "Long March"—The Communists' Desperate Bid for Survival

Also in 1931, Japan began forging its "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere" by invading Manchuria. China could do little more than appeal to the ineffectual League of Nations. But to Chiang, the Japanese were "a disease of the skin" who could wait; the real enemy was the Communists—a "disease of the heart"—whom he continued to smite.

In 1933, he launched a major campaign against Kiangsi. About 80,000 Red troops broke out to begin the 6,000-mile "Long March" to Yenan in the northwest. Only 20,000 of them finished it.

Nanking, 1937—Japanese Troops Forge a "Greater East Asia"

A real sense of nationalism was beginning to infect the Chinese. Increasing impatience at Chiang's appeasement of the Japanese "dwarfs" and of his civil war against the Communists culminated in the "Stan Incident" in 1936. Chiang was abducted by his own generals and released on his verbal promise to form a united front with the Communists.

The Nationalist-Communist alliance was short-lived, however. When war with Japan came the next year, both sides fought each other as much as the invader.

Into this situation came the Americans with a war to win and billions to do it, and full of illusions about China, communism and peace.

KING SWINE MIXING CONCENTRATE!"

States A. R. Bloomfield, Ashland, Illinois

Pure Bred Hog Breeder

"Each animal has a "bred in" ability to convert feed into gain. We constantly strive to improve this through breeding and by using feeds that will help the animal do the best job it is capable of doing. The feed has to be good. The better feed is the cheapest to use, I find. That is why I use King Swine Mixer. I get the kind of results I want with it because it helps the hog to do its best according to its inherent or "bred in" ability. I also like to use King Swine Mixer because of the services I get from the manufacturer of the product. They take good care of me."

HIGH-LEVEL HUMOR—Humor in American politics is the theme of the show which returns Jack Paar to network television. His color special, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the White House," airing on NBC-TV May 19, features wit from, among others, Presidents Johnson, Eisenhower and Truman, Vice Presidents Humphrey and Nixon and Senators Robert Kennedy and Barry Goldwater.

Polly's Pointers Open Box Saves Struggle

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — My mother always keeps the box of adhesive bandages OPEN in the bathroom cabinet or on the kitchen shelf, so we do not have to struggle to open the box when any of us has a cut finger.

—TREVIA
DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for typists. When realigning copy that has been removed from the typewriter and is being inserted for a second time, use the "window" from a window envelope and slip it over the printing point and check the alignment by typing on the window before typing the correction directly on the paper. —RUBY
DEAR POLLY — When I decided to give myself a haircut and home permanent I wished that I had medicine cabinets with swinging mirror doors on opposite walls so that I could adjust them to see the back of my hair and still have both hands free. Since I did not have this convenience, I taped a hand mirror to the thickness of the bathroom door which is on the wall opposite to the single swing mirror door to the medicine cabinet. By moving the two mirrors back and forth I can adjust them to be able to see any part of the back of my head. —LOIS

DEAR POLLY — Do you want to safely transport a home-made pie or cake to a party, to Aunt Susie's house or to a picnic? Take a large tin box (perhaps one that a fruit cake came in), remove the cover and place the cover upside down on the kitchen counter. Now place the cake or pie in the cover and invert the bottom of the tin box in the cover and over the baked goods. Carry the whole thing upside down and you have a tight compartment to protect those precious goodies. —L. M.

DEAR POLLY — I have a simple way to have clean, fresh kitchen window shades at all times. I buy medium-weight yard material such as denim, Indian Head or the like, in white or ivory in the width to fit my window shade roller. Cut to the desired length and make a hem in the bottom wide enough for the wooden stick to slip through. Fasten this shade on to the old roller with five or six thumb-tacks. When soiled it is easy to remove and pitch into the washing machine, starch lightly (optional) and replace on the same roller with the same tacks. A colorful remnant might be used for such a shade and brighten up the kitchen. —MRS. J. J. B.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I have a pair of new, washable black cotton gabardine jodhpurs. As I do not want them to fade, I wish someone would tell me how to treat them to prevent this. I have heard of soaking garments in a vinegar solution but I do not know the "recipe." —D. L. P.

PORTABLE TUNNEL—Work on massive concrete sections of an auto tunnel to go beneath the Scheldt River is proceeding on dry land in the Netherlands. Once completed, the units will be towed to the tunnel site on the river and sunk. When all sections have been linked, the river water will be pumped out. The Scheldt tunnel will be a key link in a superhighway from Rotterdam to Lille, France.

IC Professor Addresses AAUW In Greene

ROODHOUSE — Dr. Wilbur E. Chein, visiting assistant professor of economics at Illinois College, spoke on "China Today" at the annual dinner meeting of the Carrollton Branch of the American Association of University Women. Fifty members, their husbands and other guests attended the meeting held May 9 in the Roodhouse Methodist Church.

Dr. Chein was introduced by program chairman, Mrs. Guy Petty. A fifteen-minute question and answer period followed his address.

Invocation was given by Rev. Roger Christianson of Carrollton. Mrs. John McQuillan, president, welcomed guests. Brief announcements were made and a final report of the successful tour of Gregory Farm was given by Miss Margaret Kinison. Approximately $320 was realized by the AAUW and the same amount by the Home Extension Unit.

Miss Carol Hayes, music supervisor, presented her Chorallers from North Greene High School in a program of vocal numbers. Miss Hayes accompanied the group on the piano.

Hostesses were: Mrs. John McQuillan, Mrs. Guy Petty, Mrs. Hugh Strickland, Mrs. Robert Gledhill and Miss Margaret Kinison.

Word has been received here that Miss Mary Arnold, Normal, formerly of Roodhouse, has returned to her home after four months of hospitalization. Miss Arnold is a critic teacher at Illinois State University, Normal.

A former Roodhouse resident, Dr. William Bates, is a surgical patient in Florida hospital. Dr. Bates is the brother of Mrs. Fred Strang, White Hall.

Mrs. Harry McDonald is spending three days in the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDonald, and family, Fenton, Mo.

Attending the 13th anniversary dinner meeting of the Jerseyville Rotary Club were the following Rotarians and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coates, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coffman, Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Bucklin, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilkinson. Past District Governor Coffman was one of the speakers. The Jerseyville club was sponsored by the Roodhouse Rotary Club.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Clyde Hopkins have been visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Clyde Kinser, Springfield.

CHAPIN GTS CLUB HAS ANNIVERSARY

CHAPIN—The G.T.S. club of Chapin observed its anniversary meeting April 27 at the Blackhawk in Jacksonville. Mrs. Paul Davidsmeyer gave the noon prayer.

A brief meeting was held with Mrs. Frank Wolfe presiding. Roll call was taken and Mrs. John Killam gave the secretary's report. A letter was read from Mrs. Mae Hunt in California.

A contribution was voted to the Morgan County Cancer Crusade.

The Mary and Martha Circle of St. Paul's Lutheran church met April 28 with Lena Sieving, Ada Schumacher and Mabel Werries as hostesses.

ASHLAND BOARD BONDS NEW PLANT

ASHLAND — A recent meeting of the Village board was held for the purpose of receiving bids from bonding companies on the sewage disposal plant bonds, $35,000 Revenue bonds and $100,000 General Obligation bonds. Two sealed bids were presented to the board.

The bid from White-Whillips and Columbian Securities, who bid jointly, was for 4 1/2 percent interest on the Revenue bonds and 4 1/2 percent interest on the G. O. bonds.

The bid of Quail and Veith, Duncan and Wood, who bid jointly, was for 4.875 percent interest on the General Obligation bonds and 4 1/2 percent interest on the Revenue bonds. Don Parsons made a motion to accept the low bid of Quail, Veith, Duncan and Wood, and it was approved.

A proposition was read concerning the dumping of garbage at Jacksonville. A new state law prohibits the dumping of garbage at Ashland's present site.

Sealed bids from Albert Yancy and Richard Lockett on a new Village truck were not opened at this meeting, pending requirements on hauling garbage and type of truck needed.

Permission to install lights at the tennis court in the West Park was asked by "Christmas 365." The lights would be erected on a meter basis with the insertion of a quarter in the meter for lights at the court at night, with "Christmas 365" to pay for the minimum charge of $1.00 per month. The board gave their approval of this proposition and gave permission to erect the lights at the tennis court.

CAPTURED AND ADOPTED

Daniel Boone was captured by Shawnee braves in 1778. Because of his fame as a hunter, he was not killed but was adopted by Chief Black Fish.

A quarter-century campaign by a committee of the American Bar Association to improve legal procedures in traffic violations has reached the halfway mark. Twenty-five states now have abolished the system of relegating traffic offenses to part-time, often untrained persons—justices of the peace and local magistrates—who are paid by fees from the fines they levy and often tend to treat the process of justice as a revenue-producing opportunity. The system has been called the most glaring weakness in the nation's courts. Nearly all judges hearing traffic cases in the 25 states are now on straight salary. In addition, four states have taken steps to abolish fee courts. Of the 21 states where the fee system still prevails, many permit counties to switch salaried judges by local option.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gaylord Perry pitched a six-hitter and Willie Mays hit his 514th career homer as the first place San Francisco Giants rolled to their tenth straight victory Wednesday night downing the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1.

The victory was the fifth this season for Perry, who has yet to

Dodgers' Sutton Handles Phils By Himself, 5-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Don Sutton of the Los Angeles Dodgers shut out Philadelphia 5-0 on six hits Wednesday night, collected three hits and batted in the only run he needed.

Sutton, showing near perfect control as he struck out eight and walked only one, gave himself a 1-0 lead when he singled in the third inning after a double by catcher John Roseboro.

The Dodgers then put it out of reach with a two-run sixth-inning rally against Larry Jackson. Maury Wills drew a two-out walk, Lou Johnson followed with a single and both raced home on Ron Fairly's single against the right-field wall.

Sutton also singled in the ninth inning when the Dodgers pushed across their final two runs.

Statistics Show Why Three Share Big Ten Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten baseball race is a three-team scrap among Michigan, Ohio State and Minnesota and official conference statistics stressed the reason why Wednesday.

Michigan (7-0) is tops in batting with a .344 team average. Defending champion Ohio State (5-0) leads in fielding with .969.

Minnesota (8-0-1) boasts the best pitching with a composite 0.60 earned run average.

Despite the winningest conference record, Minnesota rests in third place behind co-leaders Michigan and Ohio State because the Gophers played a rare tie game ended by rain.

The conference title chase could be simplified considerably this weekend when Michigan plays a double-header at Minnesota Saturday.

Although Minnesota has three pitchers with a combined 8-0 record, the Big Ten's most celebrated hurler is Michigan's Bob Reed with a 6-0 mark.

Reed, who already has tied the conference record for most victories in one season, will try for a new mark as Michigan's starter in a Friday single game at Iowa.

Reed leads conference pitchers with 35 innings of work, plus 30 strikeouts.

Minnesota's star pitching trio includes Jerry Wickman and Frank Brosseau with 3-0 each and Mike McNair with 2-0.

In batting, third baseman John Biedenbach of Michigan State leads the Big Ten with .424.

Next is another Spartan, left-fielder Bob Speer at .412; followed by right-fielder Al Bara of Michigan with .407; and a trio of .400 hitters, including shortstop Bob Gilhooley and outfielder Les Tanona of Michigan, and first baseman Jack Campbell of Indiana.

Gilhooley also leads in RBIs with 12.

TERRELL BEGINS TRAINING PLEASANTVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Ernie Terrell, thwarted in his attempt to fight Cassius Clay, began training Wednesday for a bout with Doug Jones in Houston next month.

The 26-year-old Terrell will defend his World Boxing Association heavyweight title against Jones on June 23.

Clay is generally recognized as heavyweight champion.

The orphaned Clay-Terrell fight was turned down, successively, in New York, Chicago and two Canadian cities before Terrell pulled out over a contract dispute.

GAME RESET FOR TODAY

The championship game of the JHS District baseball tournament, between Jacksonville and Ashland, will be played this afternoon at 4:15, weather permitting. The contest was postponed Wednesday because of wet grounds. If the game is not played today, it will be scheduled for Friday.

Injury Jinx Again Hits Minnesota

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — An injury jinx which plagued the Minnesota Twins in 1965 is continuing to haunt the defending American League champions this season.

"It looks like it's still hanging around," Twins Manager Sam Mele said Wednesday after assessing the latest injuries which have taken two of the big guns from his batting lineup.

The Twins won the 1965 pennant despite a series of injuries which sidelined for several weeks such stars as pitcher Camilo Pascual and Harmon Killebrew, four-time league home run king.

But the combination of injuries and a weak hitting attack has kept Minnesota in the second division most of the first month of this season.

Shortstop Zoilo Versalles, winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player award in 1965, has been nursing a sore arm. That, coupled with a bruised heel, forced the Minnesota sparkplug out of the first game of the New York Yankees series Monday. Mele says Versalles will be out of action for two or three more days.

"A guy runs into an umpire. How do you explain that?" Mele asked.

Umpire In Act

He was referring to Twins first baseman Don Mincher, who collided with umpire Frank Umont Monday night and suffered a badly bruised muscle just above the knee on his right leg.

The muscle hemorrhaged and was draining into Mincher's knee. Fluid has been removed from the knee.

Twins' trainer George Lentz says there's a possibility Mincher has a muscle tear which could sideline him two weeks or more. The left-handed hitting Mincher won a starting position in mid-season last year. He hit 23 homers, batted .251 and drove in 65 runs in 128 games.

Catcher Earl Battey missed four games early in the season because of an injured finger.

Outfielder Tony Oliva, two-time All batting champion who currently sports a .394 average, missed the first game of the Yankee series because of an abscessed tooth. Oliva, however, was ready to return to the line-up Wednesday.

With the exception of Jim (Mudcat) Grant, the Minnesota pitching staff has escaped the injury bugaboo.

Grant missed one start with swollen neck glands. He also underwent an examination of his weak knees, which troubled him much of last season when he won 21 games.

Despite outstanding pitching Minnesota has only a 9-10 record and is in sixth place. The pitching staff has an earned run average of 2.71.

'Funny Car' Racer

Runs On Area Track

Despite cold, damp weather, Dick Harrell, one of the nation's biggest names in drag racing, put on an exhibition not soon to be forgotten by the large crowd attending the weekly races at the White Hall Dragway Tuesday night.

Harrell made three exhibition runs on the one-eighth mile dirt track, and demonstrated to the fans why he is rated as one of the toughest competitors and best sportsmen in drag racing today.

Harrell, tabbed by many as "Mr. Chevrolet," is in his third year of racing the "funny car," or match racer. His present car is a fuel burning 427 cubic inch 1966 Chevy 2, which was built at an approximate cost of $7,500. Harrell and his crew travel many thousands of miles each year campaigning their cars, and as recently as last week, raced in New Mexico and California.

Harrell, who originally campaigned out of Carlsbad N.M., stated last night that he is soon moving to Chicago, to take charge of the high performance department of a large auto agency there.

This week-end, Harrell will be running at two meets in the St. Louis area, and for the next month will be campaigning in this general area.

In actual competition, Harrell is the points leader for this division through the third month of racing. On the quarter mile tracks Harrell's car consistently runs at 147 mph, covering the distance in 9.5 seconds. His best marks with this new car have been 151 mph, with a 9.32 second elapsed time.

Pride In Achievement

In talking about the entire scope of drag racing, Harrell cited safety and pride in personal achievement as the biggest reasons that the sport has become so popular.

Since its inception in the early 1950's drag racing has grown steadily until in 1965 it became the number two spectator sport in the United States. Its popularity is demonstrated by the National Hot Rod Association National meets. The Summer Nationals are held at Indianapolis each Labor Day week-end over a four day period, and attracts over 100,000 spectators and about 1300 contestants. The Winter Nationals are held at Los Angeles in Feb., and that meet attracts a comparable number of people.

Locally, the drag strip at White Hall has been in operation for the past seven years, and has always drawn large crowds from all around central Illinois. Paul Fansler, manager of the strip stated Tuesday night that the fans can expect a great number of fine shows this year as in the past, with match races and exhibitions brought in at different times throughout the season.

HONORED AT NAVAL ACADEMY

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Bruce Bickel, Navy football quarterback, and Jim Lewis, lacrosse star, were named winners Wednesday of the Naval Academy's top athletic prizes.

Lewis, of Uniondale, Long Island, N.Y., leading scorer on the lacrosse team and a three-letter winner in soccer, will receive the Naval Academy Athletic Association sword for personally excelling in athletics during his years of varsity competition.

Bickel, of Fairmont, W. Va., senior quarterback, will receive the Thompson Trophy, which goes to the midshipman "who has done the most during the current year for the promotion of athletics at the Naval Academy."

AL's Pitchers

Are Now In Love

With KC Stadium

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City's Municipal Stadium was a favorite spot for home-run hitters two years ago. Now all American League pitchers are in love with it.

Charles O. Finley, owner of the Athletics, has transformed the park from home-run gardens into the King Ranch, or maybe the Grand Canyon, with a 40-foot-high screen and fence in right field and 22-foot fences in left and center, 421 feet away.

"It is mesmerizing the big hitters on the other teams," Finley says with glee. The season figures bear him out, at this stage.

The park is tailor-made for the A's, short on home-run power. In fact, it has made the A's into the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of baseball.

At home, the A's are a .750 club, with six victories and two defeats and a pitching staff earned run average of just 1.80.

On the road, Kansas City is 1-13 with a 5.19 ERA. Their pitchers have allowed only two homers at home, both to left field, compared to 13 on the road.

"Well, I don't hit home runs, anyhow," said Tony Oliva of Minnesota, league batting champion, after his first look at the 40-foot fence.

Like Breaking Par

"Hitting homers here is like trying to break par on an 8,000-yard golf course," said Ken Harrelson of the A's, a right-handed hitter who is golf champion among major league players.

"We're going to have a lot of triples here," said Ed Lopat, A's vice president and a former pitcher. He said it with a grin.

Just two years ago, Finley erected a low fence across center field and a "one-half pennant porch" in right field. The other fences were low. Why? He had sluggers Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile.

Finley also insisted the New York Yankees were successful because of their short foul line tailored to their pull hitters.

The new fences didn't help the A's. A total of 239 homers were hit in the stadium, second highest in major league history, but the A's got only 107 of them and they won only 26 games at home to 31 on the road.

Last year Finley left the porch up in right, with Gentile still around at the start of the season, but took down the short, low fence in center and hiked up the others. The home run total dropped to just 115, only 47 by the A's, and they won 33 at home, 26 on the road.

PASSPORTS VALID

AT CHAUTAUQUA

HAVANA — Entrance fees will be charged at Chautauqua National Wildlife Refuge this year during the May 28-September 5 period according to Refuge Manager Dick Toltzman.

Entry to the refuge will be through presentation of the $7.00 "Golden Passport," or through purchase of a $1.00 daily permit.

The Federal Recreation Permit was authorized under the Land and Water Conservation Fund, from which Congress may appropriate money to provide urgently needed public outdoor recreational facilities.

A wallet-sized card is designated the "Golden Passport" because of its gold color and large number of federal recreation areas—7,000—entitles the purchaser and everyone in his car to enter Chautauqua Refuge is one of 139 Wildlife Refuges which have been designated to charge entrance fees.

Money from the sale of the "Golden Passport," together with other fees and revenues, goes into the Fund. Roughly 40 percent of the entrance fee goes to buy additional Federal recreation areas—a share in the California Redwoods, a bit of Fire Island, or a view from Spruce Knob, or a safe haven for the vanishing whooping crane. The other 60 percent goes to the States and through them to towns and counties to buy and develop "near to home" recreation areas. These grants are matched with an equal amount from State or local sources and help buy that last bit of woods near town, or change that ugly junkyard into a park.

Russell And Bing Top Picks By NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — Cazzie Russell, everybody's All-American from Michigan, went to the New York Knickerbockers as the No. 1 pick in the National Basketball Association draft Wednesday and Dave Bing of Syracuse was snatched by the Detroit Pistons as the No. 2 selection.

The 10 pro clubs dug through a long list of college prospects for eight rounds. They came up with the names of 79 players who now must be contacted to see if they are willing to play pro ball next season. Unlike the football draft, there is no strong competition for a basketball player's services in most cases.

There may be some supplementary selections later.

Eddie Donovan, Knicks general manager, said he had met with Russell about a week ago and expected no serious problems. He said he expected to use Russell, 6-foot-5½, 218 pounds, at guard but said he also could make a forward.

Well Rounded Player

"He is a well rounded player and we are happy to get him," said Donovan. "We considered him the best in the country. I have the idea he will be happy to play with us."

Bing, 6-3, 185, was next on the Knicks' list and right behind Russell in Detroit's plans. The Pistons, who had lost the first pick to New York by the flip of a coin, wasted no time drafting the fine all-around performer from Syracuse.

Clyde Lee, Vanderbilt's 6-9 star, was the third to be drafted in the first round. He went to the San Francisco Warriors.

Although Lee had agreed to play ball in Milan, Italy with an amateur team, he said he planned to talk with the Warriors in the near future about pro ball. He indicated he would consider any bids.

Hawks Take Hudson

St. Louis, with the fourth pick, took Lou Hudson, the 6-5 high-scoring Minnesota ace who suffered a broken hand during the season and was limited to 17 games. He was the top scorer on the U.S. team in the World University Games Tournament in 1962.

Aaron hit a two-run shot over the left-field wall in the first inning, and slammed a three-run drive to the same spot in the fifth.

Catcher Joe Torre hit a solo homer—his eighth this year—in the third inning and Tony Cloninger evened his record at 3-3 with late-inning help from Chi Chi Olivo.

Win Over Birds

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Brabender, making his first major league appearance for Baltimore, balked home Bill Skowron with the winning run in the 11th inning and gave the Chicago White Sox a 3-2 victory over the Orioles Wednesday night.

Brabender, who came on in the 10th, got into trouble in the 11th when he walked Skowron and was touched for a single by Gene Freese. Two outs later, he lost his control again and filled the bases by hitting Ron Hansen with a pitch.

HOPPER AND HAMM

Hey, Fellas, It's A Girl

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
TUY AN, Viet Nam — (NEA) — The medical helicopter was on a mission of mercy ... the evacuation of Vietnamese peasants, each of them ill, to the facilities of a U.S. Army field hospital.

Minutes earlier five patients had been carried aboard. Minutes later six would be carried off.

No, nobody else was hurt. Somebody was born.

Three people sat on the craft's iron floor and two others, one a young woman, were stretched out in canvas litters. They were silent and uncomplaining. Nobody seemed in serious condition.

Nonetheless, Stan Teopir, a medic from Nebraska, squeezed around as best he could in the cramped compartment and began examining the assortment of maladies. He looked into eyes, at tongues and into ears. He felt necks, timed pulses and attended to sores.

It was all quite routine. Then, suddenly, the young woman began to moan.

She was black-haired, sharp-featured and in obvious pain. She clutched at the blanket thrown over her, she sat half-way up and dropped back exhausted; she drew in her legs and then thrust them back out. One of the ship's crew tried to get to her but it was too crowded. For a moment he wondered what her trouble was. And then it was obvious.

"Teopir, Teopir!" the crewman screamed.

"What is it?"

"The woman, the woman."

"What's the matter with her?"

"Teopir, you're about to deliver a baby."

The medic jumped up and climbed toward the woman in the stretcher. It was true. The blanket had hidden her condition when she came aboard ... but it wasn't hiding anything now. She was in the final stages of labor.

"Somebody give me a hand," Teopir blurted.

"It's too crowded, Stan."

"I can't get to her either."

"Keep the ship steady."

Quickly the medical soldier reached to aid the girl. He pulled the blanket off and crouched into a position where he could maneuver.

The aircraft occupants were bedazzled. The other patients jabbered to each other. The copilot was talking to the pilot who was trying to talk to the expectant mother.

Just then everybody shut up except one.

"Hey, here it comes!"

Teopir placed his hands near the woman like he was going to grab an infield fly. And there, at 100 m.p.h. and 3,000 feet above the earth, a wet, nut-brown baby was born.

The medic withdrew the infant and held it up at about gunsight level with a nearby .50 caliber machine gun. Then he gave it a couple of pats on its bottom and the hatch of the helicopter exploded with the hungry holler of a toothless, wriggling, five-pound child.

"Here," Teopir said, "somebody hold it."

LIST TOP SCIENCE STUDENTS AT JHS FROM STATE MEET

Jacksonville High school students, who attended the Junior Academy of Science exposition's state meet in Urbana at the University of Illinois last week end, and the results of the judging were:

Outstanding exhibits: Tom Ahlquist, John Bellatti, Jeff Coultas-Dave Witte, Norman Foster, Kenneth Yeager.

First: Allan Aldridge of Jonathan Turner.

First: Mitch Hopper, Becky Wegelhof, Larry Yeager.

Second: Joy Buchanan, John Fortado, Dick Scott, Jennifer Wilson, Ruth Yeager.

Third: Fred Manker.

Jacksonville High school placing five students in the outstanding category, was the only high school in the state to produce that many students in that ranking.

GETS THIRTY DAYS ON TRAFFIC CHARGE IN JERSEY COUNTY

JERSEYVILLE — A plea of not guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle following expiration of a driving permit was withdrawn by James Glover Tuesday. They appeared in the Jersey County Circuit Court before Associate Circuit Judge Howard Lee White and a plea of guilty was substituted.

Evidence introduced revealed that the youth had previously been arrested on charges in Jersey and Adams county.

Judge White sentenced Glover to 30 days in the Jersey County jail. Glover was arrested on the traffic charge by Lt. Dale Ogden of the Jerseyville Police Force.

- The damage had not yet been gauged in Virginia's famed Shenandoah Valley orchards, New York State's Hudson and Champlain valleys, the Maryland, Delaware and Southern Illinois fruit regions. Virginia was reported "pretty badly hurt."

While the Great Lakes, the Appalachians and Eastern Seaboard shivered in record low May temperatures Wednesday — down to the low 20s in some Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland sectors, an expanding storm system in the Midwest dumped four to five inches of snow in parts of North and South Dakota, three inches in Iowa and nearly two on Chicago's northwestern environs.

North Dakota called out the snowplows to rescue cars and trucks stuck in drifts as deep as 15 inches in an area 20 to 75 miles southwest of Bismarck.

Temperatures above freezing melted the accumulations at Watertown, S.D.; Dubuque, Iowa, and around Chicago.

Storm Peril

But the Weather Bureau warned of storm peril to livestock in at least eight Great Plains states where snow was mixed with cold rain and whipped by winds up to 35 miles an hour. Locally heavy snow was forecast for the mountains of Colorado, and temperatures were expected to drop into the 20s there and in Minnesota.

The warning area included Montana, Wyoming and Colorado east of the Continental Divide, the Dakotas, and parts of Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas.

Wisconsin and northern Michigan also had rain and snow.
- ## Thomas Baker Of Carrollton Dies Wednesday
- CARROLLTON — Thomas Baker, retired township road commissioner here, died at 8:45 a.m. Wednesday at Boyd Memorial hospital.

Mr. Baker, 79, had been a patient at the hospital for a week. He had lived in Carrollton for the past 50 years.

Born in Crab Orchard, Ky. July 28, 1886, he was the son of Richard and Sally Adams Baker. He was married July 28, 1910 to the former Halley Shearer, who survives.

Mr. Baker also leaves a son, Arthur Baker of Carrollton; a brother, James of Crab Orchard, Ky.; three sisters: Mrs. Robert Fletcher and Mrs. James Ledford, both of Crab Orchard and Mrs. Charles Adams of New Albany, Ind.; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Two sons: C. H. Baker, killed in an accident in 1950 and Thomas Baker Jr., who died in an accident in 1958, preceded him in death.

The remains were taken to the Mehl Funeral Home where friends may call after 10 a.m. Friday.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the funeral home. Reverend John Finnan of Staunton, a former Greene County resident, will officiate. Burial will be in Carrollton City cemetery.
- ## Three Unhurt In Car-Truck Crash
- Occupants of two vehicles escaped injury as a result of a collision one mile west of Jacksonville on U.S. 36-54 about nine o'clock Wednesday evening.

According to reports filed by state police, a westbound car, driven by William J. Hish, 64, of Virginia, attempted to pass a westbound truck, operated by Alvin H. Sanderson, 69, of route one.

Sanderson was reportedly attempting a left turn into his drive.

A passenger in the Sanderson truck, Sadie Sanderson, 61, escaped injury.
- ## PROBATION DENIED FOR TACOMA MAN
- Magistrate Paul Fenstermaker Wednesday afternoon denied probation for a Tacoma, Washington man who had earlier entered a plea of guilty to deceptive practice.

Randy R. Surbeck, 23, of Tacoma, Wash., was denied probation, ordered to serve seven days in county jail, pay court costs and make restitution on several checks written with insufficient funds.

Surbeck was given credit for the seven days he had been held in the county jail and released after paying the checks and court costs.

- NEW NATION — Another new name is joining the roll of independent African states. Basutoland, a British protectorate since 1868, becomes the independent kingdom of Lesotho this year. Slightly larger than Maryland and completely surrounded by South Africa, the mountainous country is rich in scenery but poor in resources.

Some 200,000 Basutos, half the male working population, must cross the border to find work in mines and on farms in South Africa.
- ## Cahill Elevated To Head Grid Coach At Army
- WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Cahill was elevated to head football coach at Army Wednesday.

The 40-year-old Cahill, who has been West Point's freshmen coach since 1958, succeeds Paul Dietzel.

Dietzel left the Army job abruptly last month to become football coach and athletic director at the University of South Carolina.

Length or terms of Cahill's contract were not disclosed.

Dietzel left on April 6, taking five of his six varsity assistants with him. Spring practice was to have started three days later but was postponed a week and Cahill was put in charge. Drills will end this Saturday night with the annual spring intrasquad game.

Army's first choice as a new coach was Bobby Dobbs, a Cadet fullback during the World War II years and now coach at Texas Western. He turned the job down.

West Point brass talked with several other candidates before settling on Cahill.

Cahill coached for 12 years at the Marlins, N.Y., prep school and at Riverdell High School in Oradell, N.J., before coming to Army. He is a graduate of Niagara University, where he was an all-around athlete.

Cahill is Army's 26th coach in 77 years of football, and the eighth who did not graduate from West Point.
- # Freezing Weather Deals Fruit Crop Severe Blow
- By The Associated Press
- Frost and freeze this week, including some of the lowest temperatures ever recorded in May, have taken a toll measurable perhaps in the scores of millions of dollars from the fruit and vegetable crops in the northeastern quarter of the United States.

Losses as great as $15 million in Ohio and $10 million in Michigan have been authoritatively estimated. The figure for Wisconsin's Door County alone was at least $1 million.

The damage had not yet been gauged in Virginia's famed Shenandoah Valley orchards, New York State's Hudson and Champlain valleys, the Maryland, Delaware and Southern Illinois fruit regions. Virginia was reported "pretty badly hurt."

- # Administration Asks Power To Negotiate Lenient Trade Pacts
- WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration gingerly asked Congress on Wednesday for power to negotiate more lenient trade agreements with the Soviet Union and the Communist satellites in Europe, except East Germany.

Since 1964, President Johnson has been trying to soften the ground for legislation to ease East-West trade barriers as part of his campaign to build new bridges of peaceful contact with the Soviet bloc.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the new bill would give the President "a vital instrument of negotiation — so that we may grasp opportunities that are opening up to us in our relations with the Soviet Union and countries of Eastern Europe."

Late Date

But by not submitting the measure until this relatively late date, the administration virtually insured that it would not be passed this year. Some figured that after extended hearings, it might become law in 1967. Even then, its fate is uncertain.

The bill would end a long-standing postwar ban on most-favored-nation treatment to European Communist states except for Poland and Yugoslavia, which now enjoy it, and East Germany, which would remain exempt.

Under most-favored-nation clauses, which generally cover U.S. commerce with the non-Communist countries, each party accords to the other any lowered tariffs it has negotiated with a third country.

Administration strategists have been sensitive to criticism of their proposal in this congressional election year. They said they would welcome public hearings.

So far, the tariff-writing House Ways and Means Committee, which would be the first to take up the bill, has not set a date for its consideration.

Benefits

Rusk, in a special message accompanying the bill draft,
- listed both benefits to the United States and safeguards. As the secretary of state put it, "Winning in Eastern Europe are being gradually opened to the winds of change" and the earlier U.S. cold war trade limitation policies, "which once served our national interest, no longer do so adequately."

Rusk said U.S. policy has become outdated and rigid, America finds itself the only major Western country to have its hands tied on lowering tariffs in East-West trade, and the President's inability to negotiate on this "sharply reduces his power to use the great economic power of our trade as a bargaining instrument."

Washington thus risks losing important opportunities to influence events inside the Communist bloc and leaves the field open for exploitation by others, the secretary said.

U.S. determination to resist Red expansion by force as in Viet Nam, Rusk said, is only a part of American strategy. He said the other part is to make clear to the Communists that their best interests lie in peaceful relations, including economic contacts.

In line with U.S. policy on this score, the bill specifically rules out Communist Cuba, China, North Korea and North Viet Nam from most-favored-nation benefits. East Germany is also exempted, because the United States does not recognize the Communist regime there.
- # Stage Being Set For Hot Fall Election Campaigns
- By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
- Michigan's Gov. George Romney set the stage Wednesday for a hot election battle next fall by naming five-term Republican Robert P. Griffin to succeed the late Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, a Democrat.

This expected political maneuver to lessen Griffin's underdog role came a day after a gubernatorial primary in Nebraska lined up for November a political newcomer, Republican Robert T. Tiemann, against a fast-rising young Democrat, Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorenson.

A senatorial Republican primary in West Virginia brought victory to ex-Congressman Francis J. Love, who won his last election to office 20 years ago, to face Democratic Sen. Jennings Randolph.

With the primaries warming up as the November elections creep closer, these were the developments the past two days:

Michigan

The 42-year-old Griffin, co-author of the Landrum-Griffin labor law, was named to serve until Dec. 1. Voters will decide in simultaneous but separate balloting in November on his bid for the five remaining weeks of McNamara's term and for a new six-year term.

Griffin faces opposition in the Aug. 2 Republican primary from Grand Rapids businessman Deane Baker, but is a favorite to win. Romney conceded it will be an uphill battle for Griffin against either top candidate in the Democratic field, former Gov. G. Mennen Williams or Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanaugh.

Nebraska

Tiemann, a banker in the small town of Wausa popula-
- tion 724 and a political newcomer, was elected by Republicans to try and break the eight-year Democratic hold in Nebraska's governorship. In front-running a five-candidate field, he blocked the comeback bid of former three-term Gov. Val Peterson.

The Democrats chose to oppose Tiemann, a 32-year-old Sorenson, younger brother of former presidential aide Theodore Sorenson and son of a one-time Republican attorney general. Young Sorenson easily beat his two primary opponents.

Gov. Raymond W. Arndt for the Democratic nomination to challenge Republican Sen. Carl T. Curtis in November. Curtis had no opposition.

West Virginia

The 63-year-old Love, a congressman 20 years ago, defeated ex-Democrat Harold G. Cuyler by a big margin for the Republican senatorial nomination. Incumbent Randolph had no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

Voting for the State Legislature brought victory to a man with a famous Republican family name. John D. Rockefeller IV, a Democrat, scored a spectacular victory, leading in a 66-candidate contest for nomination to the 14 Kanawha County (Charleston) seats in the House of Delegates.
- McNamara's appearance ostensibly was in support of the administration's $3.4-billion foreign aid program. Fulbright indicated previously that he expected that McNamara would be the last witness before the committee went into closed sessions on the measure.

The committee plans to hear from the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge, at a closed meeting Thursday.

Lodge, who is in Washington conferring with administration officials, spent nearly an hour Wednesday with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Freeman said he and the ambassador discussed steps being taken to help Viet Nam improve its agricultural economy.

One of the liveliest debates at Wednesday's Senate hearing involved Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and McNamara on the question of whether the use of U.S. combat troops had moved the way any closer to a conference table.

Morse insisted it had not.

But McNamara argued, "The first step in a negotiated peace is avoidance of a loss, and that step is a direct result of the introduction of U.S. forces."

"Had the men not been introduced the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam would have won. They would have slaughtered thousands and probably tens of thousands of South Vietnamese, and all of Southeast Asia would be in turmoil," he added.

- # Ford Reports Record Sales
- By The Associated Press
- DETROIT (AP)—Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. reported Wednesday an end to a sales slump with record auto sales for the first 10 days of May.

In April, the four domestic auto firms sold 761,606 cars, about 38,000 below the record 1965 total. Arjay Miller, president of Ford Motor Co., and Roy Abernethy of American Motors Corp., previously said auto safety hearings in Washington were part of the sales picture.

Ford, Chrysler and General Motors all cut back production schedules.

However, Ford Division, the first to release figures for the first 10 days of May, cited record sales of 50,434 cars and 14,088 trucks. Both top the division's early May records set last year when 49,134 cars and 12,666 trucks were sold.

A Ford Division spokesman said, "We'd have had bigger records" if it hadn't been for the auto safety controversy.

The Ford figures came as the industry eagerly awaited sales reports for the first 10 days of May as a tipoff in whether the dip in auto buying is over.

Reports from dealers and zone offices poured into company headquarters in Detroit with indications most of the car makers will release their latest sales figures Thursday.

Donald N. Frey, Ford vice president and general manager of Ford Division, noted that sales of 200,000 Mustangs and 100,000 Fairlains this year were well ahead of last year's pace.

Frey said car sales for the year passed the 750,000 mark in early May, one 10-day period ahead of last year's record pace.

The 10-day figures are the first compiled since the auto industry turned over to a Senate committee last week a list of defects and shortcomings found in U.S.-built cars since 1960.

Hot Issue

One of the most discussed questions among auto men was whether the industry report to Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., would have an adverse effect on sales.

Ford President Arjay Miller said in discussing a dip in April sales below those of a year ago that one of the factors was "harassment" on the auto safety issue.

American Motors President Roy Abernethy expressed belief the auto safety hearings had a negative effect on sales.

General Motors President James M. Roche conceded he was disappointed with April sales but did not blame the safety issue directly.

The GM president said there were many factors, including Viet Nam and the draft, income tax payments due April 15 and the prospect of generally higher withholding tax rates effective May 1.

Most auto executives agreed the buying trend of the opening 10 days of May would be a pretty good barometer of business for the rest of the 1966 model year.

Auto inventories of over 1.5 million cars as of May 1 meant that dealers had a man-sized job to keep sales rolling in the spring and summer months.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have announced cutbacks in production schedules, either this month or in June, because of the huge number of cars in dealer hands. American Motors, which had two earlier shutdowns during the model year to get production in line with inventories, has not been involved in the current cutbacks.
- # VC Would Have Won
- WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday that if American troops had not been rushed in, the Communists would have overrun South Viet Nam, butchered thousands, and brought turmoil to all of Southeast Asia.

McNamara, pulling secret reports from his arsenal of statistics, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the Viet Cong "is losing what support it had from the population."

Also, he said, heavy pounding from ground and air has dented the enemy's morale and expectations of victory.

N. Viet Push

But still, he said the "dominant theme" of war and peace in Viet Nam is what he saw as a "firm decision" by the North Vietnamese to intensify the war.

McNamara based this judgment on a continuing flow of men from the north — at a rate of about 4,500 men a month.

But he sought to assure the committee, a center of criticism of the war policy, that the United States has a "limited political objective" and wants to fight a war that kills as few as possible, including enemies.

"We have a limited objective," he said, "We are seeking to achieve that with the lowest possible cost in human life, to the United States, to the South Vietnamese and to our adversaries."

"Progress Report"

All this, McNamara said, is being weighed by the White House discussion on Viet Nam which he preferred to call a "progress report" rather than a re-examination of policy.

McNamara said he shed away from "re-examination" because "I didn't want to give the impression that some change of policy would be announced at any time, and I don't think that is the case."

But Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., one of the foremost critics of the administration Viet Nam policy, said he thought a "change in policy would be in the national interest."

McNamara's appearance ostensibly was in support of the administration's $3.4-billion foreign aid program. Fulbright indicated previously that he expected that McNamara would be the last witness before the committee went into closed sessions on the measure.

The committee plans to hear from the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge, at a closed meeting Thursday.

But sticking to his guns, McNamara said, "All of the intelli-
- gences we have from both sides indicates that had there been a Viet Cong and North Vietnamese victory, there would have been a slaughter in South Viet Nam. That I am sure of."

Morse countered: "We start this whole cause and effect relationship. You've got to stop this war, you've got to stop killing these boys."
- ## RAY PAGE SETS SCHOOL DEFICIT AT $30 MILLION
- SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State School Supt. Ray Page estimated Wednesday a $30 million deficiency appropriation may be needed to carry the common school fund through the present two-year fiscal period.

Page made the prediction in a letter to Sen. Fred Hart, R-Streator, chairman of the Illinois Budgetary Commission's subcommittee on education.

The deficiency, Page said, would be caused in part by increased enrollments and the shift of increasing numbers of students from rural areas to special aid districts in urban areas.

He noted that basic state aid claims submitted last fall exceeded predictions and at that time it was estimated the $59 million for common schools would fall $10 million to $12 million short.

Since then, Page said, an increase in claims indicates the shortage may reach $28 million to $30 million.

Rep. John Parkhurst, R-Peoria, member of the subcommittee, said operating costs for the six state-supported universities may climb from the $404 million during the present biennium to $440 million in the 1967-69 fiscal period.
